Israel Rejects Ike's Terms

Sanctions Issue Threat To Unity Of West Allies

DOOR STILL OPEN — Israel's Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion (above) told the Knesset (Parliament) yesterday that his government had "decided to make another effort to reach understanding" with the U. N. and insisted the door is still open for negotiations. However, Israel stood firm on her refusal to pull out of the Gaza Strip and Egypt's Gulf of Aqaba. (AP Photofax)

Mideast Debate Scheduled Today In U.N. Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Feb. 21 (AP)—A growing rift over U. N. sanctions against Israel today imperiled the unity of the United States and its Western Allies on the Middle East crisis.

With Israel standing firm in refusal to withdraw without guarantees from the Gulf of Aqaba and the Gaza Strip, U.N. delegates looked to the United States for the next move.

Britain showed coolness to sanctions at this stage and France, the third Western partner, is definitely opposed to any restrictions on Israel.

U. S. Support Indicated

Diplomatic sources at the U.N. said the United States, on the strength of President Eisenhower's speech last night appeared headed for active support of some sort of U.N. sanctions against Isreal.

The United States has said it would support a move for sanctions if approved by the Assembly. It has not made clear whether it will actually vote for sanctions but numerous delegates said in corridor conversations that Washington must take the initiative. Some key delegates said sanctions without full U.S. backing will not be effective.

Asia-Africa Move Expected

Leaders of the Asian-African group were conferring on the text of a resolution calling for economic financial and military restrictions on Israel for her failure to comply with Assembly resolutions and withdraw from Sharm el Sheikh on the Gulf of Aqaba and the Gaza Strip.

Their plan appeared to be for the Asian-African bloc to make the major move for sanctions, with the United States to make known its definite attitude later.

In the Commonwealth, Canada, New Zealand and Australia are opposed to sanctions.

ROCKET GONE — An Air Force guided missile roared out of control yesterday after taking off from Holloman Air Development Center near Alamogordo, N. M. (underlined). A spokesman at the base said it probably went down "somewhere in western Colorado." (AP Photofax)

Guided Missile Gets Away

Matador Fired In New Mexico Streaks North

ALAMOGORDO, N.M., Feb. 21 (AP)—A Matador guided missile escaped its ground controls here today and roared northwest over New Mexico toward Colorado and Utah.

Hollman Air Development Center officials, from where the missile was fired, said it probably went down "somewhere in western Colorado."

The missile did not carry an explosive warhead and was equipped only with instruments, officials said.

At Colorado Springs, Colo., Continental Air Defense Command authorities expressed belief the missile landed in an isolated mountain area in western Colorado or eastern Utah.

No Damage Indicated

A spokesman said there would have been reports by now if the missile caused damage. He said that the missile's fuel is now exhausted so it must be down but CONAD does not know where.

No one has reported sighting the missile over Colorado.

The missile was launched at 10:12 a.m. MST. A Holloman spokesman declined to give figures on maximum flight time, but earlier reports from other sources indicated burnout came an hour after the missile was launched.

There were several reported sightings of today's missile as it streaked northward from New Mexico. One was from a resident of Jensen, Utah, in the northeast coroner of Utah. Another sighting was reported from southwestern Utah. Neither sighting was confirmed, however.

Interceptors Sent Aloft

Two jet interceptor planes from Utah's Wendover Air Force Base, sent aloft to intercept the wayward missile, returned to their base after vainly searching for the Matador.

Jets in New Mexico and Utah were ordered aloft when the missile escaped its controls about eight minutes after the firing.

In Washington, the Air Force said if the missing Matador is not found by tomorrow morning the search will be discontinued. A spokesman said that to continue the search "would cost more than the missile is worth."

In answer to a question, he said the missile cost $100,000.

Jet Plane Crashes Near School

Smoke rises from a Hertford, N. C., high school garage wrecked yesterday when a Navy jet fighter crashed into the building. Wreckage litters the school baseball field. No pupils were injured but two mechanics working in the garage were burned, one fatally. The body of the pilot was found some distance from the crash scene. (Story on page 2) (AP Photofax)

Ben-Gurion Insists Door Open To Talks

But Prime Minister Wants Guarantees Before Withdrawal

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Feb. 21 (AP)—Israel refused tonight to bow to President Eisenhower's appeal to withdraw immediately behind the armistice lines. But Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion insisted the door is still open for negotiations.

Addressing Parliament after a critical Cabinet meeting, Ben-Gurion declared anew that Israel must have guarantees of freedom of navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba plus security against raids from the Gaza Strip.

"No matter what may happen, Israel will not submit to restoration of the status quo in the strip," he said. Before last October's invasion Egypt controlled the strip, formerly a part of Palestine, under the 1949 armistice terms.

Ben-Gurion said Israel is seeking further negotiations to reach an understanding with the United Nations and with the United States.

Eban Returning To U. S.

Ambassador Abba Eban, returning tomorrow to Washington, will convey the Israeli government's position. He had been summoned home to give a first-hand report to Ben-Gurion and the Cabinet, which met again tonight after the prime minister addressed Parliament.

President Eisenhower last night called on Israel to meet U.N. demands that Israel withdraw from Gaza and from the Sharm el Sheikh area overlooking the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba. He in effect held over Israel the threat of U.S. backing for punitive sanctions by the United Nations.

Today in Washington, Eisenhower appealed to American Jewish leaders to use their influence with the Israeli government. In London, meantime, the President's statement came under fire from Laborite members of the House of Commons. The British Foreign Office said Britain feels Israeli withdrawal should be combined with a U.N. guarantee of free passage in the Gulf of Aqaba.

Further Attempt At Accord

The 70-year-old Israeli Prime Minister told Parliament:

"We hope the door is not closed to further discussion. The government has decided to make a further effort to reach an understanding with the United States."

He said of the Aqaba Gulf coast:

"Israel has no need and no desire to occupy the desolate coastal strip of the—Tiran—straits. But she cannot withdraw from the area without effective security guarantees that the Egyptian dictator's acts of violence against her shipping—which the United Nations has tolerated for years, will not be repeated.

"Israel dare not unconditionally abandon the defense of her rights and her security in the straits."

Atom Aircraft Research 'Lag' Hit By Russell

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga) complained today the Pentagon is cutting back, rather than speeding up, efforts to develop nuclear-powered aircraft.

Russell said he protested to Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, during a closed-door meeting they held with the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Russell, chairman of the committee, told reporters:

"I'm not at all satisfied on research and development of nuclear-powered aircraft. Apparently Secretary Wilson thinks it is so complex and complicated that nobody else is able to do it."

Funds Cut "Drastically"

Russell said funds for a nuclear aircraft had been "drastically reduced" apparently on the theory that other new weapons might supplant it. He disagreed with such a theory, saying a piloted aircraft could deliver terrific destruction more accurately than missiles of various types.

Also, he said, the pilot could come back and make a report.

In general testimony, Wilson said the United States must maintain "great military strength" but should not increase it to the point of causing world alarm.

Force Of 2,800,000 Advised

Wilson said the United States should keep 2,800,000 men in uniform during the next three years, and would have to spend 38 to 40 billion dollars or more each year for defense.

He said the world situation, as typified by the Middle East troubles and the Hungarian revolt, calls for no relaxation in efforts to protect the nation's security.

Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, gave the Senate Armed Services Committee a review of the defense picture.

Nixon Shuns Rabat

PARIS, Feb. 21 (AP)—Vice President Nixon has quietly canceled a proposed stopover in Rabat, Morocco, in order to avoid any possible wounding of French sensibilities. Morocco only recently won independence from France.

Nixon had intended to stop overnight at Rabat on his way to Accra, Gold Coast, for ceremonies celebrating that British colony's becoming independent under the name of Ghana.

X-Rays Show Ike's Sinuses, Lungs Clear

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—President Eisenhower, bothered by a cough, had his lungs and sinuses X-rayed today and the White House said the pictures showed these areas were clear.

Eisenhower spent 15 minutes at Walter Reed Hospital. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President went to the hospital because X-rays could not be taken at the White House.

Hagerty said that both the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, and the head of Walter Reed, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, called it a precautionary checkup to see if there was any congestion. He also said both the Army doctors said, that, outside of his throat condition, which is causing him to cough, the President was fine.

Hagerty said Snyder refers to the cough as tracheitis and that Eisenhower is using a spray. Tracheitis is inflammation of the trachea, or windpipe.

Dockers Defy Union Leaders, Stay On Strike

BALTIMORE, Feb. 21 (AP) — Baltimore shippers and longshoremen announced agreement tonight on a new contract which could pave the way for a general return to work at piers along the Atlantic Coast.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—East Coast longshoremen defied their union leaders today in a one-for-all, all-for-one continuation of a Maine to Virginia waterfront strike.

New York dockers voted during the day on a master contract negotiated with shippers here in the nine-day strike. A hard core of Manhattan dockers is opposed to its terms and would be delighted to see the rank-and-file scuttle the whole agreement.

Hitch In Baltimore

The hitch in getting the strikers back to work centered on a contract deadlock in Baltimore. Although a settlement appeared imminent there, it was pointed out that there could be no general return to work before 8 a.m. Saturday, since the strikers have been promised at least 16 hours advance notice.

William V. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.), had ordered his 45,000 striking dockers back to the piers at 8 a.m. today on the basis of the tentative contract agreement.

Meanwhile, 7,400 Maryland dockers stayed out on strike. In Norfolk, Va., 2,500 others remained idle in a dispute over local contract issues.

Bradley Defied In 1954

In New York, Philadelphia and Boston, tens of thousands of longshoremen sided with Baltimore and Norfolk in open defiance of Bradley's return-to-work mandate.

It was the most serious defiance of Bradley's authority since a 1954 wildcat dock strike was pulled against his opposition.

"We won't doublecross anyone," said Harold Bowers, boss of Manhattan's West Side "Pistol" Local 824. The local, which gets its name from its past history of violence, has been a spearhead in the current ILA revolt.

Actress Linda Darnell, Airline Pilot To Wed

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21 (AP)—Actress Linda Darnell, 33, and Merle (Robbie) Robertson, 39, an airlines pilot, got a marraige license today.

The couple said they will wed March 3 at the fliers chapel of the Mission Ill in Riverside, Calif.

'Klondike Kate' Dies In Oregon

SWEET HOME, Ore., Feb. 21 (AP)—Klondike Kate died at her home here today. She was 77.

Her real name, Mrs. Kate Rockwell Matson Van Duren, was known to her neighbors, but it was as Klondike Kate, the dance hall girl of Dawson City, that she had a continent-wide acquaintance.

No meetings of sourdoughs throughout the Pacific Northwest was complete without her reminiscences of the days of the 1900 gold rush into the Yukon territory.

She was jealous of her name and good character and 10 years ago sued a radio program for referring to her as daughter of a gambler. She asked $50,000 and said afterwards she got a "satisfactory" out-of-court settlement.

Kate Rockwell was born near Oswego, Kan., in 1880. She went to New York as a stage-struck girl and later trouped through the country. She was 20 years old when she found herself in Seattle with the gold fever at its height.

She took a ship north and later was fond of telling of her life in the dance hall where miners with gold in their pokes paid high prices for a dance and a sip of champagne with her.

Judge Opens Golf Course To Negroes

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—Federal Judge Emmett Choate today handed down an order opening the Fort Lauderdale municipal golf course to Negroes.

Julien E. Ross, city attorney, was advised of the action which came in the prolonged litigation started by the Northwest Golfers Assn. of Fort Lauderdale. Choate signed his order in Miami.

Hearings Recessed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Senate hearings on President Eisenhower's civil rights legislation ran out of witnesses for the time being today and were recessed until at least next week.

Mansfield Says Ike Resolution Only 'Illusion'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) told the Senate today President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution only creates "an illusion" of a policy for the area.

He said Congress has been asked to ratify something that "doesn't even provide a basis" for a policy.

It is wrong to call it an "Eisenhower Doctrine," the senator asserted.

He also chided the administration for what he described as an attempt to inject a "sense of urgency and crisis" into congressional consideration of the resolution by implying it covered "a course of action."

Third Day Of Debate

Mansfield, assistant Democratic leader in the Senate, led off the third day of debate on the Eisenhower resolution.

As revised by the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees, the measure declares the readiness of the U. S. government to use its armed forces against any Communist aggression in the Middle East, provided the President deems it necessary and the country under attack asks for help.

Wide Support Indicated

A second section would authorize the President to launch a 200-million-dollar foreign aid program for selected nations in the strategic area.

The resolution appears to have wide support in the Senate, and both the Democratic and Republican leadership there have predicted its passage by a substantial majority. The House approved a different version of the resolution last month.

Wholesale Coffee Prices Reduced

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Major coffee roasters today announced reductions in the wholesale price of their regular and instant coffees, effective Monday.

Standard Brands Inc. cut its Chase and Sanborn pressure packed coffee by 3 cents a pound and instant coffee by 5 cents for a 6-ounce jar.

The cuts were announced shortly after General Foods Corp. posted similar price reductions.

The firm's nationally-advertised, vacuum - packed Maxwell House and Yuban brands will be lowered 3 cents a pound at wholesale, while the regular Bliss and Sanka brands will be cut 2 cents per pound. The large-size, 6-ounce jar of Maxwell House instant coffee will be reduced 5 cents a jar.

Jilted Suitor Hangs Himself

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—John Lamar White, 21, told Janice Godwin he would kill himself if she didn't marry him. He hanged himself in her backyard a few hours later.

Officers found him last night hanging by a rope fastened to a tree limb.

State Atty. Ed Wicke returned a verdict of suicide.

Cancellation of March 2 wedding plans for White and Miss Godwin had been announced on the society page of yesterday's Pensacola News.

Officers said White showed her a rope yesterday and told her he planned to kill himself unless she married him. She took him to a minister, who talked with him.

President Will Get Helicopter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The White House said today a helicopter will be made available to President Eisenhower within the not-too-distant future for short trips.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the helicopter would be used primarily between the White House grounds and National Airport, when Eisenhower plans to leave the capital by plane. The idea is to avoid heavy street traffic and to prevent the congestion which develops when the President's auto caravan appears.

The new mode of transport also could be used, Hagerty said, for occasional trips to the Eisenhower farm near Gettysburg, Pa., and to the presidential retreat at Camp David near Thurmont, Md. Eisenhower has been making such trips by automobile or in a small, two-engine plane.

Hagerty said tests by the Air Force will determine the type of helicopter to be made available to Eisenhower. He said he thought it would be a couple of months before a type is chosen.

Cost Of Living Hits New High, Trend Still Up

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — Living costs hit a new record high in January for the fifth straight month, the government reported today. It said the trend still points upward.

Factory workers' earnings also reached record levels for a January.

The Labor Department index of consumer prices climbed two-tenths of 1 per cent from December to January to 118.2 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This means it cost $11.82 to buy what could be gotten for a $10 bill in the 1947-49 era.

1,400,000 Get Pay Increase

The latest living cost boost means 1,400,000 workers in the auto, aircraft, farm equipment and various other industries will get a penny-an-hour pay increase according to automatic inflation-adjusted labor contracts.

General Motors Corp. announced its 402,000 factory workers will get the pay raise after March 1, with 109,000 G.M. salaried workers receiving an equivalent $5 quarterly pay raise. Some 120,000 Westinghouse Electric Co. employes also get the penny raise.

3.1% Higher Than Year Ago

The pay boosts add $560,000 weekly to payroll costs, or nearly 30 million dollars a year.

The January living cost level is 3.1 per cent higher than a year earlier. Food alone is 3.3 per cent higher than in January 1956.

Slight January declines in overall food and clothing costs were more than overbalanced by higher costs for housing, transportation, medical care and various goods and services, including fuel oil and other home heating fuels.

Doctors' Threat

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Britain's doctors threatened today to walk out of the state-run health service unless the government meets their demand for a 24 per cent pay increase.

Teamster Records Sought By Probers "Destroyed"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said today he had just learned that certain teamsters union records his special Senate racketeering investigations committee wanted to see "have been destroyed."

The subcommittee counsel, Robert F. Kennedy, said union officials declared the records were destroyed before a subpoena was served ordering that they be produced.

McClellan and Kennedy identified the records as financial documents of the 11-state Western Conference of teamsters.

There was no indication of what the subcommittee might do now, but McClellan said he means .."to have this committee respected" and will not tolerate any "tampering" with witnesses or subpoenaed records.

Frank Brewster, president of the Western Conference, has already been cited by the Senate for contempt of Congress in refusing to produce records for another McClellan subcommittee, the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

The special rackets inquiry subcommittee received a pledge of "full cooperation" today from George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

Meany announced this after a luncheon conference with McClellan, who has said that public hearings in the nationwide investigation will start next Tuesday. The Senate has voted $350,000 to finance the probe.

HST Opposes Sanctions But Sympathies With Ike

ISLAMORADA, Fla. Feb. 21 (AP)—Former President Truman said today his sympathies are with President Eisenhower in the current ticklish Mideast crisis but added that he is opposed to sanctions against Israel.

Truman said he interpreted Eisenhower's nationwide television and radio broadcast on the Mideast problem last night as outlining a policy which says "We can't interfere with strong nations but we can make small ones behave."

Truman said Israel should not be singled out because it is a small country while Russia, a major power, is permitted to commit acts of aggression, such as in Hungary, without penalty.

"The only way to handle Russia is the way it has been handled in the past," Truman said. "Things like the aid to Greece and Turkey, Berlin airlift and this country's intervention in Korea."

Truman voiced his opinions during a news conference at this quiet Florida Keys retreat where he is spending a working vacation.

"The situation is a very delicate one," the 72-year-old former Democratic president said. "A fellow who has been president of the United States shouldn't try to tell his successor what to do.

"My sympathies are with the President," he said, "Whether I agree with him or not. He has more troubles than any man in the world, more responsibilities than any man in the world. He is in a most difficult position and I don't want to embarrass him. But when it comes to opinions, I have a right to mine the same as he has to his."

Herter Nomination Confirmed By Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Senate today confirmed President Eisenhower's nomination of former Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts to be undersecretary of state.

The nomination was approved by voice vote with no debate.

Other nominations confirmed included:

Arthur Larson of Pennsylvania, to be director of the U. S. Information Agency.

Mansfield D. Sprague of Connecticut and E. Perkins McGuire of Ohio, to be assistant secretaries of defense.

Brownell, Ike Confer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell conferred with President Eisenhower today, but refused to say afterward whether the talk dealt with an appointment to the Supreme Court.

Guard Compromise Proposal Launched

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—A proposal to end the Army-National Guard row over active duty, giving the guard what it wants most for the present, was launched from Capitol Hill today.

The proposal was complicated and so was its sponsorship, but one thing stood out:

If it is adopted the guard will not have to begin April 1 telling youths 17 to 18½ who enlist that they must go on active duty for six months.

Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, president of the politically potent National Guard Assn. and chief spokesman for the guard in its legislative campaigns, promptly said practically all points in the proposal were acceptable.

The proposal was made public after a closed and apparently stormy meeting of a House Armed Services subcommittee. It did not have the official approval of the subcommittee but it did have the emphatic blessing of Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), chairman of the full committee, whose opinions are generally received with respect at the Pentagon.

The subcommittee took a vote, rescinded it, and finally authorized a statement that its "sense" was that Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La) should try to work out a compromise. Brooks then told newsmen what he planned to lay immediately before the Army and National Guard. But some subcommittee members disassociated themselves from the proposal.

As outlined by Brooks, the settlement plan would greatly amend an Army order requiring men who enlist in the National Guard April 1 and thereafter, if they have no previous military experience, to take six months active training duty. The guard, which now requires no active duty, said this requirement would wreck its recruiting.

The guard offered to require 11 weeks active duty of youths under 18½ and let the six months rule, which matches minimum requirements in other reserve programs, apply to older recruits.

If Brooks' proposals are accepted, the guard would be allowed to go ahead on this basis, but the six months requirement for all would go into effect June 30, 1958, barring further developments.

If, before June 30, 1958, the guard reached a strength of 408,100 and held it for two months, it would be considered that the guard no longer needed the special recruiting incentive of an 11 weeks training period. The six months requirement for all then would go into effect.

Manufacturer Quits Defense Dept. Post

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Defense Department said today Robert C. Lanphier Jr., Springfield, Ill., manufacturer, resigned last week as deputy assistant secretary of defense for supply and logistics.

Lanphier, a Defense Department spokesman said, informed Secretary Wilson about Jan. 10 that he desired to leave government service to return to his business. He asked that the resignation become effective Feb. 15.

The nine deputy assistants at the Pentagon are appointed by the defense secretary and are not subject to Senate confirmation as required for assistant secretaries.

Grand Jury May Get Vaccine Price Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—A Justice Department inquiry into the pricing of Salk polio vaccine may be taken before a grand jury shortly, Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen said today.

In response to an inquiry on the status of the investigation, the chief of the department's Anti-trust Division said, "We possibly will go before a grand jury soon."

He declined to elaborate or to say where such a jury may be employed.

Rep. Ruess (D-Wis) disclosed last week that justice officials had advised him that allegations of illegal price fixing on vaccine were being "actively" checked.

Interior Dept. Funds Slashed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Taking its cue from Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, the House Appropriations Committee today slashed $60,794,000 from new appropriations requested by the Interior Department.

The budget cut amounted to 12 per cent, a much larger reduction percentagewise than the two per cent trimmed last week from the Treasury-Post Office departments request for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The largest reduction in new money for the Interior Department was denial of the entire 40 million dollars requested for subsidized domestic purchase of tungsten, asbestos, fluorspar and columbium-tantalum for the defense stockpile.

"Secretary Humphrey", the committee said, "in his recent appearance before the committee, stated the 1958 budget could be cut and cited the need to resist public pressures that arise when the government cancels a contract or discontinues a buying program."

It cited the minerals purchase program as "an excellent" example of how the taxpayers money could be saved.

The committee said the minerals subsidy program no longer was necessary because enough of the material has been stockpiled.

Riesel Defendants Get N.Y. Maximum

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Two defendants in the Victor Riesel acid-blinding case were given maximum penalties today on their pleas of guilty to state charges against them.

Gondolfo (Sheikie) Miranti got 8½ to 16 years and Domenico (Nick) Bando 2½ to 5 years. They already had been given 5-year federal sentences each.

Miranti had pleaded guilty to charges of maiming, and Bando to second degree assault, in the attack on the New York labor writer. He allegedly was attacked to prevent him from testifying before a grand jury probing labor racketering.

Drive To Erase Polio Called For

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis called today for an all-out winter and spring campaign to wipe out epidemic polio this year.

It asked for help from "various community and public resources" in doing the job through widespread setting up of clinics.

The program is aimed at giving Salk inoculations to 63 million Americans under the age of 40 who still are not vaccinated against paralytic polio. Forty-five million others have received at least one shot.

Basil O'Connor, foundation president, notified the organization's 3,100 chapters that one-third of their share of the 1957 March of Dimes net receipts could be spent on the drive.

'Joan' Singed At Stake

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Actress Jean Seberg, 18, was slightly burned at the stake during a filming of "Joan of Arc" at Shepperton Studios today.

The script called for a gas cylinder-fed brushfire to spring up quickly around Miss Seberg and then subside. A dummy was to be chained to the stake for completion of the burning scene.

A studio spokesman said, "the gas flared up too fiercely and Miss Seberg was slightly burned on her hands and her hair was singed."

Pilot's Fiancee Believes He, Galindez Still Alive

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—The fiancee of a missing American pilot—the pilot said to have flown Dr. Jesus Maria de Galindez to a mysterious fate in the Dominican Republic—was quoted today as saying she believes both men are still alive.

Celia (Sally) Caire, 23-year-old airlines stewardess, voiced her belief in an exclusive interview with the New York Post.

Miss Caire is the fiancee of Gerald Lester Murphy, also 23, who vanished Dec. 4.

The Dominican government subsequently claimed Murphy was knocked into a shark-filled bay as the upshot of a quarrel with a Dominican pilot who later committed suicide in a jail cell.

Life magazine said this week it had learned in an extensive investigation that Murphy had been hired by Dominican agents to fly Dr. Galindez from New York to the island republic last March.

Dr. Galindez, a Columbia University faculty member who once lived in the Republic, for years has been a bitter and outspoken critic of the Dominican regime of Dictator Rafael Trujillo.

Miss Caire told the Post that Murphy told here in November:

"I've seen Galindez. I can tell you he's alive as you or I—only he can't go any place. They didn't kill him, because there's no need to. They're going to make an example of him."

Miss Caire said Murphy was engaged for the Galindez flight by the Dominican consul general in New York. Life magazine said Galindez was kidnaped and drugged, taken by ambulance to a Long Island airport and put aboard a plane.

The Trujillo government denied that any such thing had been done, or that it had any hand in Galindez' disappearance.

The FBI and State Department are investigating Murphy's disappearance.

Ga. Senate Backs Impeachment Move

ATLANTA, Feb. 21 (AP) — The Georgia Senate today added its approval to a House resolution calling for impeachment of the Chief Justice of the United States and five associate justices of the U. S. Supreme Court.

The resolution which the administration floor leader, Peyton Hawes, says "We know won't impeach anybody," carried 37-11. It now goes back to the House for consideration of a Senate amendment.

The amendment strikes out a section of the resolution which based bribery charges against two justices on stories in two newspapers, the Washington Afro-American and the New York Times.

Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Douglas, Reed, Frankfurter and Clark are charged in the resolution with "high crimes and misdemeanors" and are cited for a list of decisions on sedition and segregation cases.

Jet Crashes Near School, Killing Workman, Pilot

HERTFORD, N.C., Feb. 21 (AP)—A Navy jet fighter whizzed past a crowded high school building minutes before the morning recess today and crashed into an adjacent garage, killing one workman.

The body of the pilot was found hours later in a field some distance from the crash scene. Coast Guardmen said he apparently did not bail out as there was no sign of ejection equipment or a parachute.

The pilot earlier was identified by the Navy as Ens. William W. Bell, the husband of Mrs. Avalon Bell of Oceana, Va.

Navy officials said they believed the plane was flying at a very high altitude and was far from the crash scene when the pilot was forced to bail out.

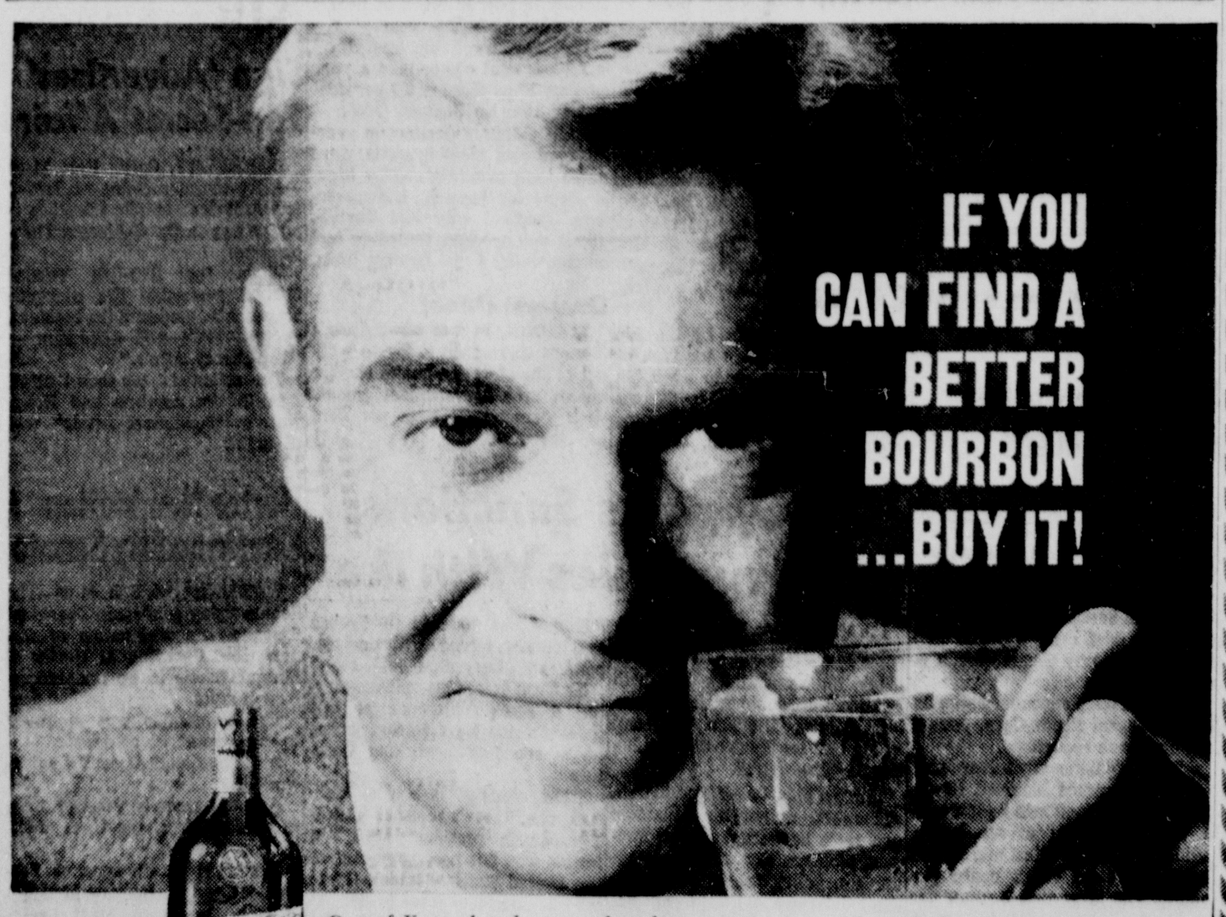

J. Van Roach, 56, a mechanic who was working in the school garage, died early tonight from burns. His mechanic partner, James Preston Morgan, 26, was critically burned.

No school children were injured. School Principal E. C. Woodard said, "If this had happened at the same time yesterday, or tomorrow, the children would have been out on the ball field taking physical education."

Teacher Pay Boost Bill Calls For Sales Tax Hike

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 21 (AP) — Another bill to raise the pay of public school teachers appeared in the Legislature today, accompanied by a proposed boost in the State sales tax.

Except for the financing clause, the measure sponsored by Del. Fitzgerald (D-Balto 5th) is identical to one which passed the House and was killed in the Senate last year. It would give teachers a flat $400 across the board increase. Written into the bill is a boost in the sales tax from 2 per cent to 3 per cent.

Earlier teacher pay bills introduced at this session call for an $800 salary increase to be spread over two years. Only one, by Del. Culotta (R-Balto 3rd), carries an accompanying revenue bill. It also would increase the sales tax.

Sen. Della (D-Balto 6th) thinks the Legislature made a mistake last year in permitting some motor vehicle drivers to pick out letters and numbers of their license plates.

Drivers who didn't have a major traffic violation against them for five years were authorized by the 1956 Legislature to choose their plates for an extra $15.

Della proposes to repeal the idea, saying it has "brought chaos and confusion" in other states. He also said the trouble it would cause the Department of Motor Vehicles would exceed by far "any benefit."

Taxpayer's Suit

CENTREVILLE, Md., Feb. 21 (AP)—A taxpayer's suit has been filed against the county commissioners by 12 Queen Anne's County residents. They want the court to determine the extent the commissioners are liable for public expenditures on construction of drainage ditches. The sum directly involved amounts to about $13,000.

FOOLS DEATH — Thanking her lucky stars she didn't take the medicine, Mrs. Josephine Aquilar tells of her good fortune by phone in Los Angeles. A pharmacist gave her digitalis pills, a strong heart stimulant, instead of dilantin, a mild sedative. "I was skeptical about the pills because they had a green band," she told police. "I've had the prescription before and the pills always had a red band." She called police on hearing a broadcast warning her. The pharmacist had notified police of the error.

Jet Pilot Killed When Parachute Fails To Open

CHINCOTEAGUE, Va., Feb. 21 (AP)—Lt. (J.G.) Michael Bond Crouch, 25-year-old Navy jet fighter pilot from Baltimore, was killed yesterday near here when his parachute failed to open.

A spokesman at the Naval Air Station here said Crouch was ejected from his plane and had parachute trouble. His body hit near U.S. 13 near Tasley, Va. on the lower Eastern Shore. His plane crashed about two miles away.

Survivors include his widow and a daughter, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Crouch of Arlington, Va.

Capt. Furrer will speak at Memorial Hospital and interview students there from 2 until 4 p. m.

Sgt. Hartley also announced yesterday that Lt. Ann Lowery, of the Women's Army Corps of Fairmont, will be in Cumberland today to interview area girls.

Convicted Murderer Refused New Trial

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., Feb. 21 (AP) — Convicted murderer Richard Hunt was denied a motion for a new trial today by Middlesex County Judge Charles M. Morris.

Joseph H. Edgar, attorney for Hunt, based his motion on a claim that two defense witnesses called to testify on Hunt's sanity gave testimony against the defendant.

Hunt, 26, of Baltimore, was found guilty Jan. 25 of the murder last June of his wife as she fled from him with their infant child in her arms.

Anniversary Of Camp Planned

Reports were given and announcements were made at the meeting of the Allegany County Bird Club, which was held Wednesday evening at the Board of Education. Richard Douglass presided and routine reports were given.

It was reported that a record of 104 different species of birds were listed on various field trips within the boundary of Allegany County, and sent to the state organization to be published with other county records by the Maryland Ornithological Society in its state publication, "Maryland Bird Life." The list included seven different species of hawks; 18 of the large warbler family and eight different sparrows. It did not include the list of ducks seen at Koon Dam; or the rare warblers and sparrows in Garrett County.

Announcement was made of the annual conference of the Maryland Ornithological Society to be held at Ocean City, May 17, 18 and 19, and members were urged to attend.

Mrs. Gilbert Miller discussed the Junior Nature and Conservation Camp, sponsored by the Allegany County Bird Club and the Board of Education, which will celebrate its 10th anniversary this summer in the form of a reunion. It will be at the Western Maryland 4-H Center at Pleasant Valley, Garrett County.

The local club will be host for adult state members' weekend camp June 14, 15 and 16. Junior camp will open June 17 and continue through the 22d.

A special day and program is being planned for leaders and juniors of other years, Mrs. Miller, camp director, said. She noted that during the past 10 years there have been 900 juniors and 100 leaders.

The next meeting of the club will be in the form of a field trip to Koon Dam March 31 at 2 p. m. There will be no business session next month.

Is Sponsoring STC Comedy

This play, written by Alberto Casella and rewritten for the American stage by Walter Ferris, is being directed by Miss Dorothy Stone White, head of the dramatic department of State Teachers College.

It is to be given at the college April 11 and 12. Sixty per cent of the proceeds of the performance April 12 will be given to the Auxiliary for its projects.

Mrs. Ida Fram was chairman of the Dinner committee, which included Mrs. Charles Waingold, Mrs. Sol Glickman, Mrs. Harry Lichtenstein, Mrs. Harry Stein and Mrs. David Klein.

A games party will be held at the church next month, at which time a covered dish supper will be held.

A shrimp feed was planned for April.

Following the meeting a box supper was held in the social room. Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Webster, Mr. and Mrs. John Groves, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Zucker, Mrs. Millie VanSickle and Mrs. Walter Maxey.

Civic Club Endorses College In W. Md.

A new project at the club house was announced and a talk on education was given by R. Bowen Hardesty, president of State Teachers College of Frostburg, at the general meeting of the Woman's Civic Club, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Albert Heacox presided at the meeting in the Woman's Civic Club house.

Starting March 1, the club house will be open each day from 11 a. m. to members and their guests wishing to play cards. All games will be played. Coffee and sandwiches will be served. For reservations members are to call Mrs. William Carscaden.

The Women's Exchange, has been discontinued until fall. Mrs. Albert Paye gave the secretary's report and various chairmen gave their reports.

Discussing the "Critical Issues STC and only 184 freshmen were the Years Ahead," Mr. Hardesty said that the youth of tomorrow and their education are a great force for peace; and that the young people are a promise for a better future. He also spoke of the dignity and worth of each individual; the free educational system; and a free society.

The speaker pointed out that it has been predicted that 20 years hence, there will be nine million students. Today there are two million, five hundred thousand college students and an astonishing number are turned away each year. Mr. Hardesty said that last September 264 had applied for entrance at Frostburg Confronting Higher Education in accepted. Since 1952, until now, the enrollment has increased from 320 to 625. He expects 1,000 students by 1958.

Mr. Hardesty explained there is an expanding enrollment at all colleges and a great need to prepare teachers for colleges; and a greater deficiency in social workers and trained librarians. He ended his talk by saying that at Annapolis there is a resolution pending to provide general college education at Frostburg.

The board of the Woman's Civic Club went on record as endorsing the proposed college in Western Maryland.

There also was entertainment by the Choral Group, which sang three numbers, "America the Beautiful," by Catherine Bates and Samuel Ward ;"When Children Play," Beatrice Fenner; and "Madame Jeanette," Alan Murray. Mrs. C. A. List is Music chairman, Mrs. R. D. Robertson, director and Mrs. Lawrence Nugent, accompanist. Other members of the group are Mrs. Howard Amoss, Mrs. Frank Leger, Mrs. Edward Martz, Mrs. Edward Ryan, Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, Mrs. Thorner Smith, Mrs. J. W. Stitely, Mrs. George Tucker, Mrs. Z. F. Zimowsky, and Mrs. Joseph Fledstein.

Ladies Auxiliary of the LaVale Firemen will meet at 8 tonight at the fire hall. Hostesses for the social hour will be Mrs. Gwen Pryer, Mrs. Jennette Pritts and Mrs. Bessie Zembower.

Navy Mothers Club will meet at 7:30 this evening at the American Legion Home, at which time plans will be completed for a pot luck supper March 8.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Five of hearts.

Declarer had to employ a clever bit of strategy at trick one to convince the opposition that they were attacking the right suit in today's hand. The potential trick he sacrificed in so doing paid handsome dividends.

Against the normal contract of three no trump, West opened the five of hearts. This assured declarer of three heart tricks but placed him in position to cash only eight winners before relinquishing the lead, which he eventually must do in diamonds.

With 11 potential tricks, declarer faced the danger of a spade shift should he give up the lead. This almost surely would yield the defense at least four tricks and defeat the contract.

What, therefore, was declarer's best chance to "get away" with the hand? Winning the first trick with the jack and running five club tricks in the hope that each defender will let go a spade would be holding the opposition in too low esteem. Surely by that time the defense would become aware that the only hope to beat the hand would be the spade suit.

South chose a better approach. Sacrificing the immaterial third trick in hearts, he went up with the king at the first lead and immediately led a low diamond. If East rushes in with the ace, as he probably should, what is his most likely return, a heart or a spade? I think it will be agreed that his most likely play would be a heart to help establish partner's suit. On the other hand, if West happens to have the ace of diamonds, a spade shift will not be appealing to him. Since declarer went up with the king of hearts at trick one without letting it ride to his own hand, West is more likely to conclude that his partner has the jack of hearts and to persist with the establishment of that suit.

Actually, East took the second diamond and returned a heart. Declarer romped off with 10 tricks.

Weak arches or ankles unquestionably hamper graceful movement and from the pain either generate, the face is often pinched along with the feet.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Pretty Feet

Aching, tired and burning feet are a universal problem for most adults. And yet so much can be done to improve or even cure these conditions. Why anyone continues to endure this kind of suffering is hard to understand. When your feet are light and gay, you can cope with almost any situation or job. When they hurt, you look and feel years older.

Try these simple exercises to strengthen the arches, stimulate the circulation, and make the feet more shapely.

(1) Put your hands on the hips so your thumbs will meet in the middle of the back. Now walk on the outside of the feet with the toes pointed straight to the front. This exercise will pusn the arch up.

(2) Stretch your legs out raising the feet from the floor, knees apart. Hold feet relaxed and let them curve in. Now, rotate the right foot in circles inward, as you also rotate the left foot in circles inward. Keep knees firm and still. Thus the feet are turning toward each other at the same moment. Make about 10 turns slowly. Then turn both feet at the same time toward the left. Then reverse them both to the right. Finally the circles should be made outward, away from each other. Repeat each movement 10 times.

(3) Curl toes of feet down repeatedly over the edge of a book.

(4) Roll the foot over a section of a sawed-off broom handle.

(5) Try to pick up a pencil or marbles with the toes.

Will Boom Bust? Inquiry May Determine Where We Stand

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

In a recent speech, a businessman who makes billion dollar decisions, said to his audience:

"If you want to be pessimistic, you can say we have reached an uneasy balance between boom and bust. If you want to be optimistic, you can say our economy has stabilized at a high prosperious level."

He was Arthur O. Dietz, president of the C.I.T. Financial Corp. (and he indicated that, given proper management all around, the latter seems more likely.)

Now in Washington today, they are talking about conducting a big, all-embracing study of the financial patterns of the United States—money, credit, banking the powers of the federal reserve, the vast new pools of money outside its controls, and what all this has been doing to your pocketbook and your future.

In other words, to determine where we stand today, and where we are likely to go from here.

Such an inquiry inevitably will touch on many aspects of the "new look" in the American economy.

It is four times bigger today than in 1940. More people, proportionately, go to high school and college. More live in their own homes, own automobiles. In 1956, for the first time, the average wage for factory workers went over $2 an hour. Never before has the world seen such a standard of living.

Now, having burst upward at such speed, must it slow?

Some economists say the old cycle is inescapable. Others say the bust may not come this year or next, but in the long run, come it must.

But another group believes the old pattern is at least bent out of shape—minor "adjustments" may develop —and possibly banished forever. Says Sumner H. Slichter, Harvard economist:

"Today, the fear held by economists in the 30's, that any economy with a high per capita production must expect a chronic deficiency of demand, seems pretty foolish."

Those who agree with him point to several factors today:

1. The experience of the 1930 depression, and the knowledge distilled from it, make it possible today to spot the signs in advance and take measures to head off a serious slide.

2. Legislative machinery in the form of the Full Employment Act of 1946, and the powers of the federal reserve, could throw the whole, massive weight of the federal government against a recession.

3. The apparent flexibility of the economy—where one big segment may slide downward while others continue to move upward, so that there is no longer the row-of-falling-dominoes result.

Another big question relating to the "new look" is this:

Whatever became of thrift? Doesn't it pay to save any more?

Economist Malcom P. McNair recently noted that Americans have added more than $100 billion to their debts in the past 10 years. Today, he said, they owe $95 billion on homes, $32 billion on cars and other installment purchases, $4 billion on department store charge accounts.

And Joseph M. Dodge, head of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co., said some figures indicate eight million families have pledged up to 40 per cent of their take home pay — presumably for things bought on "time."

Well, is this situation reaching the danger point? Should Washington step in and slap on controls?

The consumer might reply, "Why should I wait until I can pay cash for something I want, knowing the price will go up while I'm saving up the money?"

Tied to this is the question of wages and prices. Who's responsible for the steady rise in prices—industry or labor?

People have called the guaranteed annual wage, plus other automatic benefits, "built-in inflation."

Management produces figures to show that corporation profits, after taxes and excluding inventory changes, have not risen markedly since 1948, certainly not in proportion to price rises.

Labor, with other figures, asserts that this is a "manipulated inflation." Nat Weinberg, United Automobile Workers economist, recently told a congressional committee that "corporations posessing the power to administer prices have abused that power."

If the projected federal inquiry looks at monetary policy, and the general actions of the people, what will it say of federal budgets and spending? Has Washington itself contributed to the inflation, and therefore to the danger of a recession?

Everything is bigger today, the population, the economy, total debt, personal savings, the tax "bite," and the federal budget.

That is the main characteristic of the "new look."

Increasing Number Of People Turning To Their Churches For Financial Help

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

A farmer went into a church office, and came out with $200 in his pocket.

He needed the money to buy feed to get his cattle through the rest of the winter, and he knew he could get it in church.

In the same way, many people today who became temporarily short on cash, turn to their churches for financial help.

And they get it—in the form of low-interest loans from the brothers and sisters of their congregation. On the present scale, it's a relatively new activity, but it's like the old Scripture said:

"Thou shalt not harden thine heart nor shut thine hand from thy brother, but thou shalt open thine hand wide unto him and shalt surely lend him sufficient for his need."

In about 1,000 churches and synagogues across the United States, members have organized credit unions. The number is growing at the rate of about two a week. The total has doubled in 10 years.

"The credit union is an integral part of our efforts to bring happy living to our people," said the Rev. L. Wayne Smith, of the Henderson Memorial Methodist church Detroit, Mich.

To start a credit union, members of a congregation simply get a federal or state charter, elect their officers, then buy shares, with the pooled savings fund available for loans to fellow members.

It's a means to "bear one another's burdens," said a credit union member of the United Brethren church, Decatur, Ill. "We are strong believers in the motto, 'Not for profit, not for charity but for service'."

In a study of church credit unions, Dr. Benson Y. Landis, research director of the National Council of Churches, said the first one was begun at the Roman Catholic parish of St. Marie, Manchester, N. H., in 1909.

But it's only in recent years that they've spread rapidly.

Howard Custer, of the Credit Union National Assn., Madison, Wis., said the latest nationwide figures, not yet complete for 1956, show credit unions operating at 685 Roman Catholic parishes, 222 Protestant churches and 28 Jewish synagogues.

These church credit unions have an estimated 300,000 members, with assets of about 70 million dollars.

Church credit unions usually charge interest on loans at 1 per cent a month or less. This is lower than the usual commercial rate for short-term, small personal loans, but not lower than for long-term bank loans secured by collateral.

Consequently, the credit unions function mainly to meet short-term credit needs. No collateral is required.

Refugees Wait And Wonder In Austria Camps

VIENNA, Austria, Feb. 21 (AP)—The first flush of world sympathy for the Hungarian refugees has passed.

Every day that dawns now for the 60,000 Hungarian refugees still in Austrian camps brings more hours of waiting—and heartbreak.

Many sit brooding in barracks-like lodgings.

Some are cold and poorly clad.

They wonder if the free world will provide them new homes.

They huddle in an atmosphere of envy and suspicion of the lucky ones who get visas for the United States for Australia.

There are few new arrivals now. Communist soldiers have sealed the Hungarian frontier.

But this does not ease the anguish of the thousands who sit and wait.

The United States, where most refugees want to go, has all but locked its doors. It holds out only a promise that if new quotas are approved, the doors will be reopened.

So the refugees wait—for visas, sponsors, pocket money, clothing. They listen to truths, half-truths and rumors. They watch each other with suspicion, look with sullenness at the Austrians who give them hospitality.

They are afraid some refugees can pull strings to get visas earlier.

There was a serious clash in a refugee camp near Salzburg after rumors that Jews were preferred for U. S. immigration. The rumor was then put down as completely unfounded.

Some Hungarian refugees also fear the Austrians have tired of them and the likelihood they may become an eternal burden.

Complained one refugee: "In defeat, the free world is not interested in us. Had we won our revolution, they would have called us heroes. But we couldn't win against the Soviet forces without the West."

Austrian officials are a little more optimistic. An appeal to the free world to help Austria help the refugees brought money from abroad and promises from Canada, Britain, France and Israel to take unlimited numbers of refugees.

Twenty-four other countries had announced quotas previously.

The Austrian officials hope many refugees will give up their insistence on going to the United States and choose some other country so that by June upward of 40,000 will have left Austria.

The refugee can get up whenever he wants but can have breakfast only from 8 a.m. to 9:30. Some have to clean their rooms. Others can do what they want. Noon meals are from 12 to 2, supper around 6:30. Refugees have to be back by 10 p.m., with some exceptions.

National parks and forests in the United States provide some 20,000 summer time jobs, half of them filled by vacationing school and college teachers and students.

Mother Of 19, All Living, Claims Record

LEBANON, Ky., Feb. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Annabelle Greenwell good-naturedly challenges the rest of motherhood to beat what she considers a record—19 children, all still living.

Mrs. Greenwell, 48, concedes the number itself may not be the highest in the United States.

But coupled with the fact that no multiple births are among her brood and all are alive and healthy, "well, it looks like to me it ought to be a record," she said today with a happy smile.

Her husband, James Raymond Greenwell, 50, an unemployed carpenter, agreed. Greenwell has worked for $2 an hour at nearby Louisville for four years, but was laid off temporarily two weeks ago.

Their oldest offspring is James William, 28, Cicero, Ill., and the youngest Dorothy June, 4, who lives at the Greenwell home in the Catholic community of St. Francis, 17 miles away.

The Greenwells were married Aug. 9, 1928, at Etowah, Tenn. birthplace of their first four children. They moved to St. Francis in 1933.

The Greenwells have have eight boys and 11 girls of whom 12 are at home.

"I Love Paris" Back

CAIRO, Feb. 21 (AP)—Cole Porter's "I Love Paris" vanished from Cairo's night spots after the British-French invasion of Egypt last November.

The tune now has returned to one night club with a slight lyric change. The vocalist sings it "I Love Madrid."

U.S. Subs For Greece

ATHENS, Feb. 21 (AP) — The United States will give Greece the 1,525-ton submarines Lapon and Jack, built in 1942 at two million dollars each. The U.S. Embassy says they will be transferred after refitting.

The discovery of champagne is usually credited to Dom Perignon, cellar master of the Abbey of Hautvillers in France from 1670 to 1715.

Khrushchev Tells Reporter U. S. Should Pull In Horns

By JOSEPH ALSOP

MOSCOW

Nikita S. Khrushchev today (Feb. 19) in effect proposed that the United States adopt a "Fortress America" policy as the main item in a program for relaxing world tensions.

"Soviet troops," he said, "would be withdrawn to the national territory of the Soviet Union from all the countries in Europe where they are now stationed in accordance with existing treaties and agreements. Meanwhile, Western European countries would also withdraw their troops stationed in the territories of other Western European countries. The United States would also withdraw its troops to American territory from Europe and Asia, and along with that would go the liquidation of all foreign military bases."

This was the most concrete and significant proposal put forward by this remarkable man in an absorbingly interesting interview of two hours. Two other points stood out in Mr. Khrushchev's extensive discussion of foreign relations in general and Soviet-American relations in particular.

On the one hand, the Soviet leadership is anxious for the resumption of what Mr. Khrushchev called "normal diplomatic relations as distinguished from the only formally normal relations we now enjoy." This normalization, in Mr. Khrushchev's definition, would include both inter-governmental meetings at the summit and the widest possible extension of trade and cultural relations between the two halves of the world.

"We particularly want to normalize our relations with the United States," he said at one point, "because your country is a true great power, and we think our country also fits that category."

On the other hand, the suggestion that the Soviet Union might pull out its garrisons in Central Europe in exchange for American adoption of a policy of strictly continental defense constituted Mr. Khrushchev's only offer of a Soviet concession on any of the many issues that now divide the world.

In the currently vital case of the Middle East, he even indicated active Soviet support for the Middle Eastern oil resources which produce the real life blood of the second and third Western partners, Britain and France.

"The peoples of the Middle East must be permitted to develop as they choose, and they must make their own use of the natural wealth of their countries," he said. "At the same time, we realize that Britain and France need Middle Eastern oil. But we think the oil should be obtained by normal commercial transactions."

Mr. Khrushchev received me in the First Secretary's big office in the rather forbidding stone building that houses some of the Communist Party secretariat. Except for its size, the room was unremarkable, having no distinctive decoration.

At first glance, the man himself, also seems unremarkable. But in conversation one soon notices that the rather plain face expresses a much deeper and more penetrating intelligence than appears in the stock photographs of Mr. Khrushchev being jolly. He spoke authoritatively and listened attentively, but during the translations into English he would fiddle with an ornate paper cutter or an ear of hybrid corn enclosed in plastic, as though he were impatient to get on to the next topic.

Mr. Khrushchev set the theme for the discussion of foreign relations with his opening statement that we "all live on one planet and must find the way to live together in conditions of peaceful co-existence." The first step, he asserted, was for the Western leaders to reconcile themselves to the existence of the Socialist countries—"to accept this, as a believer would say, as something given by God." After that, he added, should come the "normalization" of diplomatic and other relations.

As examples of recent "abnormalities" he cited the State Department's interference with a training contract made by the Soviet Department of Agriculture with a Mid-western hybrid corn producing company, and also the State Department's refusal of transit visas requested by the Russian Olympic athletes returning from Australia.

"These incidents," he said, were, of course, mere pinpricks, but they were pinpricks given on purpose to prevent a serious approach to the more important problems standing between the two countries."

"Contacts on the highest level would be the most helpful," he added. "I want to express myself rather carefully, in order not to mislead American public opinion into thinking the Soviet Union is over eager for such contacts. Yet we do believe they would be useful, indeed essential if we want to build up normal relationships. One cannot hope to transmit one's thoughts by magic. One cannot hope to impress one's ideas on the leaders of another country by remote control."

As to the purpose of such meetings at the highest level, Mr. Khrushchev gave the familiar Soviet list of aims: "Achieving the condition of peaceful co-existence, relieving the peoples of the world of unproductive military expenditure, which also holds the danger of a third world war, with all its untold suffering, and opening all kinds of trade and cultural contacts."

In connection with his remarks about military expenditures, Mr. Khrushchev was asked why the Soviet leaders continuously attacked the United States for its "policy of strength," when the Soviet Union was itself such an impressive defense effort.

"The policy the United States is pursuing is one of aggression, not of defense," he replied. "Every country has, of course, the right to build up armed forces sufficient to defend its independence in case of attack. It is quite another thing when a wide net of military bases is being developed, far from the United States and close to the Soviet frontiers. What would you and what would American public opinion think, if the Soviet Union were to succeed in establishing bases in Mexico or Canada? I should think many of your people would lose sleep.

"But we have strong nerves, and we calmly go about our business, although because of your policy we are compelled to make a great armament effort and to warn our people of the danger of war. We believe in fact that the United States is carrying on the material and psychological preparations for a third world war. Perhaps the purpose merely is to start a European war and to have the peoples of Europe fight each other—something that happened for a period last time, a period when the United States made a lot of money.

"But the means of warfare have changed. No corner of the globe can be immune, and if the United States has developed advanced weapons, we also believe we are not behind in this respect."

It was at this point that Mr. Khrushchev mentioned "withdrawal of troops from Europe" along with limitation of armaments as two essential steps towards a more dependable peace. On being asked to develop this theme, he made the proposal cited at the opening of this report.

He continued, interestingly, that the high-level negotiations needed for such an agreement would be "unfruitful if each side comes to the meeting with its own arguments and goes on repeating them, as we did at Geneva, it will be unfruitful."

Mr. Khrushchev continued energetically with a warning that the "peoples of Europe will not tolerate their being guinea pigs in the hands of others" and will instead

Lack Of Space For County Assessing Department Discussed At Board Meet

Lack of space at the Court House for the Allegany County Assessing Department was the topic of a discussion yesterday by the Board of County Commissioners, representatives of the Board of Election Supervisors and the County Health Department.

William H. Lemmert, president of the county commissioners, told the officials attending the meeting that Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments, would outline the situation.

Nicholson said that due to a lack of space his department cannot operate with as much efficiency as possible and that modern business machines are planned in connection with new methods recommended by the State Tax Commission.

The Assessing Department is responsible for assessing property which brings in 65 to 70 per cent of the entire county income and the work has been growing year by year, according to Nicholson. His department uses desks in the commissioners' meeting room and the vault room used by a number of clerks is crowded and the ventilation is poor, he added.

Nicholson said his department handles 30,000 real estate accounts and 2,500 personal property schedules. In addition it issues building permits and has something to do with licenses which are issued at the Court House.

Lemmert said that a survey was made of the office space available and one recommendation is that the Board of Election Supervisors move to the office at the Union Street County Building and the Assessing Department take over the present quarters in the Court House basement.

He said the proposed election board quarters would be centrally located and the voting machines now stored at the Court House basement would remain. The Health Department room on the first floor of the Union Street Building would be moved to an upstairs room now used by Alcoholics Anonymous. An effort would be made to put the AA group in another office.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson said he is against the proposed transfer of the Election Board office. He said the Assessing Department has sufficient room and that the plan is not practical.

Speaking on behalf of the Election Board were Matthew J. Mullaney and Victor M. Hebb, members of the board. They both said trouble would result on nights when primary and general elections are held in obtaining returns from election judges. Mullaney said there is a parking problem in the area of the Union Street Building. Mullaney said that the plan is also only temporary and some move might be necessary in the near future.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, and J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian, said they would abide by any plan adopted by the commissioners. They did point out that the health room in the Union Street County Building is also used as headquarters for various fund drives such as the March of Dimes and Red Cross and many meetings are held by health units.

Disc Jockey Claims Marathon Record

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP)—"Deep in a Dream" went out on the air, but disc jockey Tar Starr didn't hear it—he had fallen fast asleep.

Starr had just completed 166¾ hours continuous broadcasting from a furniture store window over WJAN to raise funds for the city school lunch program. He raised $2,300.

In claiming a record, Starr said the previous mark was 154 hours, accomplished earlier this year by Bruce Allen of Blackfoot, Idaho.

Starr formerly of Waterloo, Iowa, had hoped to keep going for 200 hours.

Bids For Local Social Security Office Are Opened

The MacFarlane Building on Frederick Street was offered to the General Services Administration yesterday in Washington as the new site for the Cumberland quarters of the Social Security Administration.

The apparent low of four bids was $4,620 a year. The high bid of $5,737.50 was presented for the property at 36 North George Street.

Bidders in between were for locations on Valley Street and at the corner of South Mechanic and Pershing streets.

The four bids ranged from $2.75 per square foot to $3.75 per square foot for office space ranging from 1,530 square feet to 1,680 square feet.

Only the MacFarlane Building is ready, the rest are either in the construction or planning stage, the General Services Administration said.

Approximately 30 days will be required for the GSA to study the bids to see if all requirements are met.

The Social Security Administration has its Cumberland District office on the third floor of the Cumberland Post Office Building.

Recent changes in the Social Security laws have resulted in much additional work and the need for more facilities for the local office, which handles Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland, and Mineral, Hampshire, Grant, Hardy and Pendleton counties in West Virginia.

B'nai B'rith To Hear Glass Plant Manager

Western Maryland Lodge 1507, B'nai B'rith, will hear a talk on the local plant of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the vestry room of Beth Jacob Synagogue.

A Move To Unite GOP Factions

The new Republican National Chairman is going into the heartland of conservative Republicanism when he meets with Midwestern and Far Western GOP leaders today in Chicago, but he has made it clear he will try to avoid factionalism. Though Meade Alcorn plays up President Eisenhower's "modern Republicanism," the definition of the phrase he gave at a Lincoln Day meeting in Pittsburgh was calculated not to offend anyone: "But we are modernizing the superstructure."

Chicago was the scene of the February 9 "seminar" of the Abraham Lincoln National Republican Club on the theme of "Real Republicanism versus 'Modern Republicanism'." Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) attacked the Eisenhower "Atoms for Peace" program as "potentially an 'Atoms for War' program." Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) called for a "great uprising" against a "huge governmental oligarchy which sucks the fruits of productive power." Former Sen. Herman Welker (R-Idaho) warned that the Republican Party "must quit flitting around trying to imitate the Democrat Left-Wing Liberal."

While the Chicago seminar was in progress, GOP Governor Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland was speaking at the Queens Village, N. Y., Republican Club, a stronghold of the New York Old Guard. The Republican Party, said McKeldin, "hasn't a thing that the country wants" except President Eisenhower.

Alcorn's job of knitting the GOP together is complicated by opposition on Capitol Hill. Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, put it this way in Cincinnati: "The modern Republicanism in which I believe is the Republicanism of Lincoln and Taft." And Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland has been criticizing administration foreign and domestic policy in strong terms.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

George Washington

In our prolonged history as a nation, now 169 years since the adoption of the Constitution, we have not been blessed by an extraordinarily large number of statesmen or political philosophers. It is astonishing, however, to note how many really great minds were active in preparing the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution and in charting the new government through the earliest years of its history.

All these men, of whatever philosophy, Thomas Jefferson as well as Alexander Hamilton, Sam Adams as well as John Adams, Thomas Paine as well as John Marshall recognized the genius, the competence, the wisdom of George Washington.

The fact that George Washington pronounced a doctrine does not give it validity for all time, but it is to be noted that few statements of national purpose have had a more profound effect upon our historic policy than those enunciated in Washington's Farewell Address. Although it must be conceded that the doctrine of non-entanglement grew increasingly unpopular after Roosevelt's Quarantine Speech in 1937 and the word, isolationist, became a term of opprobrium and even shame during World War II, the failure of American foreign policy to achieve not only its goals but any goals, the reckless outpouring of wealth of the people into bottomless coffers in many distant countries, the flirtations of the present Administration with Communists, dictators and slave-owners, does cause some wonderment as to whether George Washington did not exhibit greater prescience than those who today can find it more moral to apply sanctions against Israel for invading Gaza than against Nehru for invading Kashmir.

The oft-repeated references to George Washington's Farewell Address rarely remind the reader that this was a renunciation of a third term in the office of the Presidency. He could not be dissuaded from his decision not to run again. He was assisted in the formulation of this document by Madison, Jay and Hamilton but the original is in his handwriting. There was, of course, no Twenty-Second Amendment, limiting the Presidency to two terms then, but Washington did not regard himself as irreplaceable. In the rather rounded language of the period, he said:

"I rejoice, that the state of your concerns, external as well as internal, no longer renders the pursuit of inclination incompatible with the sentiment of duty, or propriety; and am persuaded whatever partiality may be retained for my services, that in the present circumstances of our country, you will not disapprove my determination to retire."

It is in this Farewell Address, in which Washington rejected a third term, that he laid down a foreign policy for this country, one that to a greater or lesser degree was followed closely by most of his successors:

". . . The Nation, which indulges toward another an habitual hatred, or an habitual fondness, is in some degree a slave. It is a slave to its animosity or to its affection, either of which is sufficient to lead it astray from its duty and its interest . . ."

It would seem as though President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge might have read that sentence and the several paragraphs of warning that follow it when they flew down to Georgia to discuss the Suez-Gaza situation in the peaceful atmosphere of George Humphrey's shooting lodge. This sentence might have helped them too:

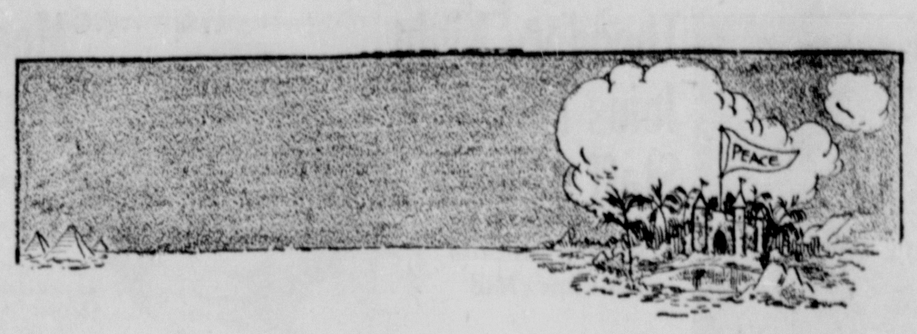

". . . Sympathy for the favourite nation, facilitating the illusion of an imaginary common interest, in cases where no real common interest exists, and infusing into one the enmities of the other, betrays the former into a participation in the quarrels and Wars of the latter, without adequate inducement or justification: It leads also to concessions to the favourite Nation of privileges (sic) denied to others, which is apt doubly to injure the Nation making the concessions . . ."

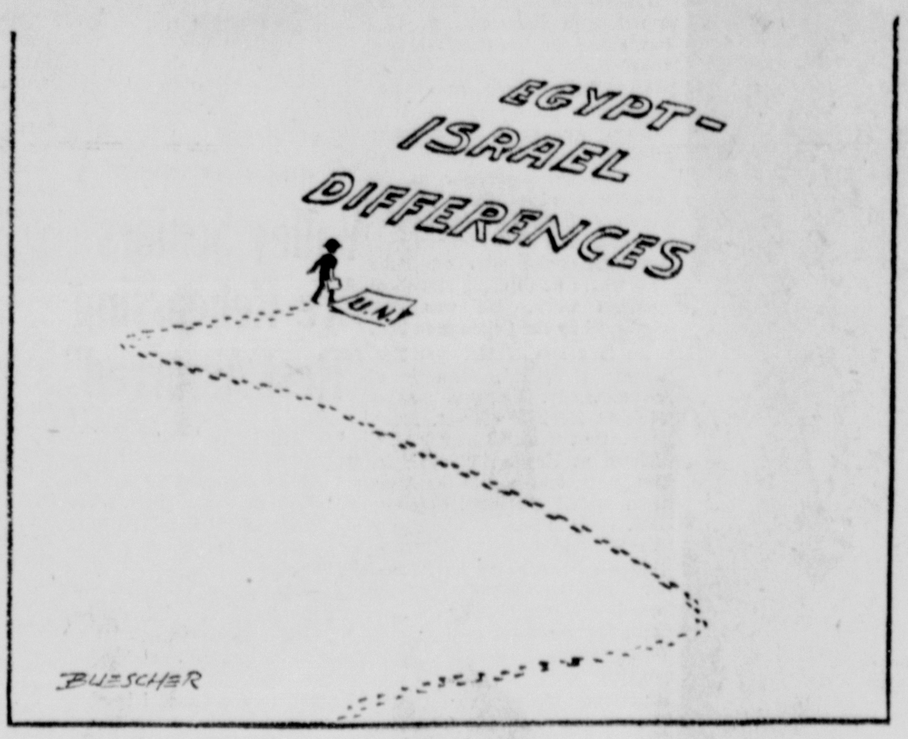

Surely excessive partiality for Nehru's India, Tito's Yugoslavia and Nasser's Egypt would have appeared to George Washington as unseemly.

I can quote no more for want of room, but in this year of fateful errors, it would be sound for citizens to read George Washington's Farewell Address — a legacy to his people.

Mirage?

Industrial Profits Lost In Wage-Price Squeeze

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Industry is falling behind in the race with rising labor costs. The rate of profit after taxes is going down. Figures are becoming available from more and more companies, telling what happened in 1956.

This is what's back of the recent wave of worry. While it is generally conceded that no depression is immediately ahead, there are indications of considerable anxiety that, unless the trend is reversed, the profit margin will be wiped out in the next few years for many companies in industry after industry. This may become true especially for those businesses unable to borrow money for more up-to-date equipment or unable to finance such purchases out of accumulated surpluses.

The story of what has caused this downward trend in profits can be given in a single sentence: Industry's wage costs have risen by 212 per cent since 1939 and, despite new machines and improved methods, productivity per man hour has increased only 41 per cent within the same period.

Unless companies can get more production out of their increased costs—either with or without new machines—the rising labor costs will inevitably wipe out profits.

The facts show that companies, large and small, are fighting a losing battle with rising costs and that union-labor monopolies are recklessly forcing up the scales of wages which both large and small units in an industry must pay.

Thus, sales in the U. S. Steel Corporation in 1956, as compared with 1955, were up 3.7 per cent and total outlays, including labor, rose 4.6 per cent and hence profits after taxes were down 6 per cent.

The Monsanto Chemical Company, one of the biggest in the chemical field, reported sales up 3.8 per cent, expenses up 4.8 per cent and profits after taxes down 8.5 per cent.

In automobiles, the Ford Motor Company report shows that sales were down 16.9 per cent but expenses were down only 14.5 per cent, so profits, after taxes, came down by 45.9 per cent.

The Burlington Industries, Inc., one of the largest in the textile field, had increased sales of 23.5 per cent and increased expenses of 24.5 per cent, and profits after taxes were down 6.7 per cent.

In the publishing business the story is the same—many magazines and newspapers are feeling the pinch. One publisher of a large newspaper in the East points out that newsprint has gone up from $85-a-ton in 1947 to $130-a-ton today and that another $4-a-ton increase is under way.

Meanwhile, wage costs have risen sharply. The minimum pay of an experienced newspaper reporter has gone up from $65 in 1947 to $124 a week today. The mechanical workers have had boosts of from 65 per cent to 120 per cent since 1947. The same Eastern publisher says he is spending $2.40 an hour, on the average, in straight-time pay for all employes but that "fringe" benefits add another 51 cents an hour, so the real cost has gone up to $2.91 an hour. Equipment costs have soared, too. While advertising rates have been raised, the same publisher says costs continue to exceed the added advertising income and hence further rises in advertising rates are going to be needed if any profits are to be made. This, however, runs into the possibility of a diminished quantity of space that might be bought because the advertisers themselves face increased costs all along the line.

It would be thought that in the field of electrical appliances, so necessary in modern living, the story would be different. But it isn't. Also, the Radio Corporation of America, with a variety of television and electronic products, showed sales up 7.1 per cent last year and total expenses up 8.2 per cent, but profits after taxes were down by 15.8 per cent.

In the lumber and wood industry, earnings, after costs and taxes, per sales dollar have gone from 8.6 cents in 1947 to 4.3 cents today. In furniture for the same period, the earnings figure has come down from 5.7 cents to 3.4 cents. In fabricated metals, it has fallen from 7 cents to 3.9 cents. In food, it is now 2.5 cents as compared with 3.7 cents in 1947. Textile mills show a drop from 7.3 cents to 3 cents. Printing and publishing earnings have come down from 5.5 cents to 3.9 cents. Surveys of supermarkets show a rising trend in costs and a shrinking margin of profits after taxes.

There are a few industries that show improvement, but the bulk are on the minus side. In all industries, small business has been proportionately hurt even more by the rising costs.

Yet, in spite of these facts, labor-union bosses feel they must force the wage scales upward and upward in order to keep ambitious rivals from driving them out of office. It's a dilemma that, curiously enough, Congress has shown a strange reluctance to investigate and expose. But until the people get all the facts, they cannot decide what the answer is or what remedy must be applied if a serious depression is to be avoided.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

An egghead writes me as a fellow-educator concerning the outbreak of teenitis in secondary compounds of learning.

Tops in the delinquent tournament are defacing walls and heel-stomping the corridors. These children come from the unsupervised remudas in the cross-tracks developments.

Looks to me like she has given me a splendid example of competitive sport.

If she doesn't want 'em to write on walls don't teach 'em to write on blackboards. Limit their education to carving initials on desks.

Why should a child sneak along a hall like a muskrat or a second-story burglar?

On George Washington's Birthday we cannot quote from Parson Weems. George was educated by a tutor. And a tutor is an anemic teacher who can't handle more than one pupil at a time.

Setting fire to the old red schoolhouse is a tune off a different caroussel. Back in 1896 this writer put the torch to Mommy Cossett's Elementary Detention Camp.

I can never understand why I did that. Vacation started the very next day on July the First.

Doctors Disagree On Removal Of Gallstones

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

An executive called recently concerning the results of his annual physical examination. Routine X-rays had been taken and several gallstones were visualized.

"What do I do now?" he asked. "I never had abdominal distress in my life, and if X-rays had not been taken I never would have known that stones were present."

Some surgeons insist upon operating when gallstones exist. They feel the risk of surgery is less than the risk of suffering the consequences should the concretions misbehave. This applies to the individual who is otherwise healthy and is not suffering from such diseases as cirrhosis of the liver or severe heart trouble.

Other physicians believe gallstones need not be removed when they are not causing trouble. Less than half of all those with silent gallstones hear from them in years to come. The presence of the rocks does not reduce life expectancy, and when death comes, it usually is due to some other disease.

The judgment of the physician plays a major role in the circumstances. But the fact that disagreement exists has an important bearing on the answer. Apparently it makes little difference whether surgery is done or postponed, because in the end results are about the same.

But various factors alter the decision. Large stones, for example, cannot escape to cause colic. But when 25 to 100 small stones are harbored the physician anticipates trouble in the future.

Gall bladder colic is in the offing when a clove sized or smaller stone escapes and blocks the passageway leading from the liver to the intestine. This is exceedingly painful, and unless the concretion passes, an emergency operation is inevitable.

Tiny stones may not act up for days, months, or years. But the chances of getting into difficulty are too great to be disregarded. Patients who have their gallstones and gall bladder removed are always happy to have the operation behind them.

The others may live to be 100, bragging every year about having cheated the surgeon out of a fee. They learn to live with the biliary disorder and take in their stride whatever pain and digestive disturbances that arise. But a few 80 year old men and women get into serious trouble and wish they had listened to their surgeon 15 years before.

TOMORROW: Anticipate trouble.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

A sarcastic congressman, appraising a hostile colleague, concluded with this mild censure, "I won't say he's dishonest, but if he had been in George Washington's shoes, he'd have double-crossed the Delaware."

There's one commuter on the Harlem Division of the New York Central who is strictly barred from all bridge games. "He's the kind of player," explains a grim fellow-passenger, "who calls a spade three spades."

On a roadside near Pittsfield, Mass., Karl Tausig spotted a motel that boasted a big, neon sign reading "Blue Heaven." Directly beneath the sign was another which added "No Vacancies."

Whined a sneak-thief who had been caught in the act by an alert plain-clothesman, "I'm gonna go straight after this. I just can't take it any more."

Washington's Truthful Lead Should Be Followed By Newsmen, Officials

By Drew Pearson

Washington, D. C.
February 20, 1957

Dear Drew,

This should reach you about Washington's Birthday, and you won't be going to school. Lucky guy. I wish I were like you and didn't have to write a column today. But my schoolteachers—in this case quite a few editors—think I should work regardless of the founder of our country. Perhaps they will let me off with a letter to you instead of a column.

When I was your age I didn't pay much attention to George Washington's Birthday except that it gave me a day off from school and my brother used to try to chop me down with a papier mache hatchet. It took me quite awhile to understand how great a man George Washington was. His press relations weren't very good at that time. He wasn't able to hire B. B. D. and O. or any of the high powered advertising agencies of Madison Ave. He didn't even have a Jim Hagerty handling his press relations, and the newspapers really went after him before he retired.

But he not only steered this country through its toughest period, he left us some great principles. One you talk about in school is how he told the truth about chopping down the cherry tree. And despite some people's idea that this was a myth, I am glad this is taught and remembered today. Because you can't run a country, or a business, or a family, or even yourself without telling the truth.

The business your granddaddy is in has to worry a lot about the truth. We are always trying to track down the truth, and sometimes the truth is very hard to report. Whole batteries of press relations men are hired in the government and by business firms to conceal the truth, or influence the truth, or gloss over the truth.

This makes it difficult to tell the truth. Nevertheless to ignore the truth can be just as bad as not telling the truth. When a newspaperman, for instance, omits the truth in order to curry favor with a bureaucrat or the White House, he is, in effect, lying to the public.

When Truth Is Ignored

For instance, when the Associated Press described George Allen as a "crony of President Truman" and as "an occasional golfing partner of President Eisenhower," ignoring the fact that Allen was a partner in the President's Gettysburg farm, also was his partner in a Howard Johnson restaurant, has been a bridge-playing partner during the long Georgia vacation and on many other occasions, then the AP is not fulfilling its trust to the public.

Or when newspapermen fail to report that George Allen, who was chairman of the Yemen Oil Company, was with the President during his vacation when the President was making demands on Israel, again they are neglecting important truth.

The truth is not always on the surface. It can't be scooped up like cream off the surface of milk. Sometimes it has to be drilled, dynamited, blasted out of piles of bureaucratic red tape and batteries of press officials to get the real facts.

Sometimes also you make mistakes. You think you are telling the truth, but you find you were wrong. I made one the other day about Sen. John Pastore of Rhode Island when I listed him as voting for the natural gas bill. This was a foolish mistake, for he voted just the other way. I shouldn't have made the mistake, and I have now apologized to Sen. Pastore.

Then I made a mistake the other day in calling Henry Clay a Democrat. I thought I knew my history, but I didn't. Clay was a Whig. When you do make a mistake you get plenty of reminders from other people, and I promptly got one from John H. Powell in Philadelphia telling me that if Clay was a Democrat, then Andy Jackson was a Whig and Bryan was a Republican. "Of course," said Mr. Powell, "Adlai Stevenson is always quoting Lincoln. Lincoln must have been a Democrat."

Of course you won't understand this, but when you get a little older and study the fascinating history of the United States you will.

In recent years it has seemed to me that government officials have tried more and more to hide the truth or even twist the truth — including the President himself. He did not used to be this way.

During the recent election, something happened involving the truth which could affect your life and the lives of all boys and girls your age.

Adlai Stevenson proposed outlawing H-bomb tests. Just a few days before he proposed this, the President and his advisers had decided on the same course. They had decided that so much dangerous poison was building up in the atmosphere from H-bomb tests that it might affect the lives of little boys like you in the future.

But after Mr. Stevenson proposed this, the President made vigorous speeches telling the public that Stevenson was all wrong and that his plan would endanger the safety of the nation. This was not the truth, and the American public was deceived.

Now that the elections are over, some of the President's advisers have urged that we adopt the Stevenson idea of banning H-bomb tests, and the President has partially adopted the Stevenson plan.

But the American public still does not know the real truth of what happened before the elections and how dangerous the H-bomb tests can be.

So remember when you get the day off from school, it's not just to give you more time to play, but because George Washington taught us a great lesson—telling the truth.

Love,
Grandpa.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Such is true love which steals into the heart,
With feet as silent as the lightsome dawn,
A love that gives and takes, that sees faults,
Not with fault-seeking eyes like needle points
But loving-kindly looks them down,
With the overcoming faith that still forgives.
—Lowell

How many friends have you? That is, friends of proven friendship. It is said the average person has from six to 20 friends. Also that only one in four friendships lasts 20 years or more. Many of us don't keep in touch with our old friends as much as we should. How about starting an annual Auld Lang Syne day? A day on which all of us give a thought to our old pals by getting in touch with them and perhaps giving them a little present.

GUIDE TO GALS

All women have trouble in making up their minds. That is why so many millinery saleswomen and shoe salesmen in women's footwear departments so frequently suffer from nervous breakdowns. The women having the most difficulty of all females in coming to a decision are those born under Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22). If you see a woman lingering long before giving her order in a restaurant and then calling back the waiter to change it, she is usually a Libra. It takes a Libra at least one hour to buy a pair of shoes and two hours to buy a hat. If, as a bachelorette, she has three men interested in her as a matrimonial prospect it takes her a year or more to decide which proposal to accept. And when she does accept one and marries him she is never certain she picked the right man. Or, so say the stargazers.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. What celebrity was nicknamed "Old Hoss?" A. Two remarkable fellows were so nicknamed. One was the great major league pitcher "Old Hoss" Radbourne, who pitched for Providence when that team was in the major leagues. One year, in aiding his team to win the pennant, Radbourne pitched the last 27 games of the season and won 26 of them. The other bearing the nickname mentioned was "Old Hoss" Hoey, brilliant stage comedian, who introduced and popularized the song titled "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo."

SAYS SHE

"The complaints of women that most men in this country do not understand kissing are justified," writes a feminine subscriber of Boston. "A man whose kisses can be classed as thrilling is a rarity. It has been jestingly said there should be schools for kissing established in the United States. Many a true word is spoken in jest. Most of our countrymen have no knowledge whatsoever of the tenderness technique in osculation. A tender and thrilling kiss is never planted on the lips. It is a kiss impressed upon the lobes of the ear or the nape of the neck. That is something every young man should know."

PRESENTS

How about people who were born on Christmas Day? Should they get double presents on December 25? That is, both birthday and Christmas presents. I think so. I knew a fellow whose wife was born on Christmas Day. Not only that, he married her on Christmas. So on December 25 he has to buy her triple presents, birthday, wedding anniversary and Christmas. How about those born on Feb. 29, which date comes but once in four years? How about their birthday gifts? My understanding is such people rate a birthday gift on the last day in February every year.

HORSES AND WOMEN

The first burlesque troupe to perform in this country was Lydia Thompson's British Blondes. Most of Lydia's blondes were really brunettes transformed by the use of peroxide. They were responsible for popularizing peroxide as a hair dye in this country. Another of Lydia Thompson's achievements was the introduction in the United States of the song titled "If I Ever Cease To Love." This song is still sung annually in New Orleans during the Mardi Gras season.

Dear Dr. Dellen

FLYING FROM PHOBIAS

Mrs. E. R. writes: I've never been sick or nervous in my life until a year ago when I developed various fears and phobias I'm trying to regain my former calmness, and as part of my treatment I'm going to fly to Europe. Do you think this too fantastic a remedy?

REPLY

No. The rest may benefit you but flying away from trouble rarely helps anyone. It usually waits patiently for our return.

PLUCKER

A. R. writes: I know a girl who plucks all her eyebrows continuously. As soon as a hair appears, she plucks it out. Does this mean she has something wrong with her mind?

REPLY

Only the woman involved or her psychiatrist can answer this question. Everyone has a reason for doing the unusual, and it might be sound or unsound, conscious or unconscious.

IRRIGATIONS NOT NEEDED

D. T. writes: Will a colonic irrigation twice a year prove beneficial?

REPLY

No. The only benefit is to the irrigator who collects the fee. Colonic irrigations have no advantages over ordinary enemas, and occasionally are dangerous. I suggest that you confine your twice a year visits to your dentist.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

W.Va. Liquor By The Drink Bill Defeated

Resolution Falls Short By 22 Votes

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 21 (AP) — After surprisingly short debate, a liquor-by-the-drink resolution went down the drain in the House today, falling 22 votes short of the needed two-thirds majority.

On a roll call, which came after 18 minutes of debate, 45 delegates voted for the measure and 52 voted against it.

Del. Hubbar (R-Ohio) and Del. Dahill (D-Logan) were the only members who spoke for the resolution. Hubbard was a co-sponsor along with Del. Chilton (D-Kanawha). Del. Cruikshank (D-Clay) made the only speech against it.

The resolution would have submitted a proposed constitutional amendment to West Virginia voters next year. The amendment would have required the Legislature to provide machinery whereby a county or municipality would hold an election on legalizing sales of liquor by the drink within its borders.

Evidently referring to reluctance of the resolution's supporters to speak on its behalf, Hubbard said he felt like a lawyer who "has an excellent case if he could only get the witnesses to testify."

Hubbard said West Virginia's present liquor law has resulted in existence of the same sort of speakeasies "selling whisky by the drink, that we had in the prohibition days . . . the same contempt for the law . . . and corruption of public officials."

Cruikshank proclaimed, "once again we see the ugly head of the evil serpent raising its head."

He said the liquor by the drink proposal, if ratified, would raise tax money from West Virginia citizens at the expense of "demoralizing their homes and making orphan children."

Twenty-eight democrats and 17 Republicans voted for the resolution, and 29 Democrats and 23 Republicans voted against it.

Adoption of such a constitutional amendment proposal requires approval by two-thirds of the elected members of both houses. The resolution had not been before the Senate.

The Senate moved through a 50-minute session, passing and sending to the House five bills and two resolutions.

One bill, passed 31-0, was an interim committee-originated proposal setting up detailed new machinery for soil and soil resources conservation, and control and prevention of floods and soil erosion.

MISS ALMA TIMNEY

Valley Seniors Are Rehearsing "Rest Assurred"

LONACONING — "Rest Assured" is the comedy in three acts to be presented by the Senior class at Valley High School on Wednesday and Thursday, February 27 and 28, at 8 p. m. in the auditorium.

Mr. Morlock, a fidgety old grouchy goat who doesn't like anything but money won't let his family do anything and won't let his daughter Mary become engaged to Joe Lanconi because his father is poor. A feud starts between the Lanconi's and Morlock's and Joe's father haunts Mr. Morlock, visible only to Morlock and the audience, in hilarious fashion, and an amazing reformed Morlock awakens to make peace in the family household.

Jack Thrasher plays the part of "Lucifer, from 'Down Under,' who carries a pitchfork and rounds-up lost souls." Alma Timney portrays the character, "Mrs. Frinck," the German washerwoman, in the comedy play.

A stage crew, John Shuhart, Stanley Skidmore, Allan Weir, Leonard Wilson, Marvin Metts, Victor Clark, Allan Haugen, and faculty members, Alexander Ganyu and Joseph K. Haugen, are getting the stage in readiness for the senior class play productions.

Prompters will be Mary McKenzie, Shirley Kirkwood, Colleen Tharp and Edith Steele.

Moorefield PTA Hears Report On W.Va. Legislative Program

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Stanley P. Hawse, assistant superintendent of Hardy County, spoke at the Moorefield Parent Teacher meeting Monday night on the legislative program. The meeting was held in the graded school building and Theodore Burns, president, presided.

Mr. Hawse gave a brief summary of different bills before the legislature, some pertaining to schools and teachers and some having to do with other phases of life in West Virginia. He mentioned some that had already been passed, such as the salary raise for members of the Board of Public Works and local option for doe season.

The action suggested by members of the West Virginia Education Association has in great part, been lost in committee, but Mr. Hawse listed the points in which the association was interested. Then, he outlined the bipartisan program offered by the administration. This bill, too, is having rough sledding but Mr. Hawse seemed confident that certain parts would be passed by both houses: reappraisal of property; increase in recording tax; assessment for all automobiles; and the resubmitting of the finance and taxation amendment which Hardy countians approved last year but the state as a whole turned down.

During the business meeting, there was a discussion as to whether the PTA should purchase athletic equipment or work books to help out children who might not have them. It was decided to give $65 to the Moorefield High School and the same amount to the Moorefield Graded School, earmarking the graded school donation for volley ball equipment and suggesting that the high school use its contribution for a tumbling mat.

A committee, composed of Miss Blanche Hinkle, Mrs. James Bond and Mrs. C. G. Hamrick was appointed to investigate the cost of a curtain for the graded school stage. A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. C. H. Fisher, Mrs. James Bond and C. B. Hiett, was also appointed and asked to report at the March meeting.

Miss Margie Crites and Irving Sherman had the most parents present and tied for the attendance prize.

Hostesses were Mrs. Dorsey Thomas, Mrs. J. B. Chipley Jr., and Mrs. Roy Hamilton.

Mt. Savage High Boys, Teacher Install Foundry

MT. SAVAGE — Machine shop boys and their instructor, John Helmick, have recently installed a foundry for casting which will make possible a wider variety of projects and create a greater interest in metal working.

Work on the foundry commenced January 9, with the pouring of the concrete slab where all the hot metal work is to be performed.

The installation is in a concrete block container in which sand is mixed to get the right consistency for packing into flasks to make molds. Into these is poured the hot metal to form the desired shape. This process is known as casting.

Casts from the mold will be in a rough form and finishing will have to be done on the machines. In this way the foundry will be correlated with the machine shop.

Ham And Egg Show Plans Progressing

KEYSER — The annual Ham, Bacon and Egg Show, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Keyser, will be held again this year in the Keyser High School gymnasium on Friday and Saturday afternoons and nights, March 8 and 9. The general committee, with Arnold Sligar as general chairman again this year, has announced that features of the show will be much different this year, with more and better prizes being offered for every part of the time the showroom doors are open.

Another change will be in the ham, bacon and egg displays and sales. There will be straight sales of these products after the federal inspections. There will not be an auction, but the articles will be marked with ribbons after the inspection or other markings, together with prices, as to the grades of the articles, thus removing the delay in this part of the program that was noticeable in past years. The prizes will be placed on each article together with the grade mark.

Sligar announced yesterday that only two booths remain to be sold and that potential buyers have seen the floor plan and may make an announcement. Other booths have been taken over by local, area and state businesses.

In addition to special prizes which will include several high priced useful and decorative articles, there will be many other prizes given throughout the two days of the fair by booth occupants.

The general committee held a meeting Wednesday night and at its close the announcement was made that everything has been completed with exception of closing deals for the two booths and a few incidental things to be done.

The Circle K Club of Potomac State College and the Key Club at Keyser High School are assisting in preliminary plans and will take part at the show.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (INS)—Here are the basic results of the President's committee for Hungarian Refugee Relief Work:

1.—The U. S. gained a good press throughout the free and neutral world, including in some places where the reverse had been true.

2.—The world at large witnessed a historic movement of 24,000 refugees from Hungary to the U. S., and their resettlement, in record time.

3.—Humanitarianism on such massive scale, plus the despotism of Communist forces in Hungary, wrecked for some incalculable time to come the careful, costly efforts of Russia to pose as a friend of the oppressed.

"One of the most effective weapons for exposing communism and countering anti-American propaganda that the U. S. Information Service in Germany has experienced in years," our embassy in Bonn reports.

"Berliner Moregenpost" said, editorially, "The refugees were able to see with their own eyes how much effort the U. S. Air Force put into each flight and with what overwhelming friendliness the crew members tried to fulfill their every wish."

"Abendzeitung," big Munich paper, said, "What the American Army, Air Force and Navy are doing for the refugees may perhaps only be compared to the Berlin airlift. This giant, smoothly operating organization was set up within a few days. Red tape is unheard of."

The Munich correspondent of the "Journal De Geneve" told his Swiss readers, "It is an inhuman enough procedure under ordinary conditions to see that passengers are counted, photographed, examined by doctors, vaccinated, X-rayed, questioned by the police and the American Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"But here at the MATS terminal and elsewhere smiles and kindness reassure the impatient and dissatisfied. Tranquility and inexhaustible good will — that is what one always finds in these Americans working with the refugees. One cannot imagine a cold approach from these people. The man is not hidden behind his work.

"There are no numbers replacing names. The refugees are never numbers for Lt. Col. Burns, head of the Leopold barracks camp at Munich, who has been averaging two hours sleep a night for a long time. With a broad smile and good humor, he welcomes one and all as human beings — not statistics.

"They are not numbers, either, for the women of the American Red Cross, all volunteers. For hours on end, they distribute toilet articles, cigarets and such things to the adults, toys and tidbits to the children.

They do not wear a fixed smile. They express a sympathy, a sensitivity, which overcomes all barriers of language and engenders gestures of friendship and deepest gratitude. . ."

Sandor, the John Doe of Hungarian refugees, is single, 28 years old, has ten years of schooling, wants a job and more schooling. It took him hardly a week to move from Budapest to Joyce Kilmer Reception Center, N. J., where a religious or some other voluntary welfare agency fended for him in respect to job home, opportunity.

While at Kilmer he was given 4,300 calories of food a day to make up for previous privation. He had as his translator a friendly American soldier of Hungarian descent. He learned about TV, found a shop in which he could build or putter to his heart's content, had access to the wonders of the PX, could go to sleep at night knowing there would be no gun-butt battering on the door.

"What happened all added lustre to the reputation of our armed forces for carrying out peaceful missions with distinction and humanity," said the President's representative in these matters, Tracy S. Voorhees. He could say it again. The world is.

Mayor Freeland Issues Proclamation Calling For Support Of National Guard

KEYSER — Mayor John C. Freeland issued a proclamation Thursday calling on citizens of Keyser to support whole-heartedly the one-day recruiting drive of the 201st Armored Field Artillery, Battery C, Keyser National guard. The drive is a part of a nation-wide campaign to enlist 15,000 new guardsmen during the month. The mayor said that while the total strength of the National Guard is the highest in history, more members are needed. He stressed the fact that the National Guard deserves support because it serves as an efficient and economical part of national defense, and is a valuable relief force in time of disaster, such as floods, fires and storms.

The mayor called attention to the colonial days in history when able bodied men in villages and countryside gathered on village greens, armed with muskets and powder horns and trained for emergencies. This was done at all musters and the national muster.

Times have changed, said the mayor and so have weapons. The musket is now only a collector's item. Now wars are fought with weapons more deadly than were ever imagined in the past, but the principals and the ideals of the colonial militia have endured. Today there is just as much need for a force of citizen soldiers. The state militia concept has been preserved by the National Guard. The Keyser unit is one of many such units which perpetuates the history and traditions of Revolutionary War units.

Potatoes Are Tops

That familiar popular favorite, the potato as you know it, peeled, mashed, fried or baked in your own kitchen, is getting stiff competition from the numerous processed forms showing up more and more on grocery and supermarket shelves. One out of every six pounds of potatoes consumed by the American eating public today is in processed form, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has found. That accounts for nine times as much as was eaten in 1940, and double as much as in 1948.

Technicians of the Agriculture Research Service are helping to develop and improve potato products. New forms of familiar items are now in process of experimentation. For example, you may soon see your old favorite, the potato chip, in the form of chip bars, crushed chip candy, chiplets, and potato nuts, to serve a variety of purposes.

In the way of frozen potatoes, while French fries are still at the head of the list, you will find available on the market such delicacies as frozen puffs, dice, patties, potato soup, and whipped potatoes. For the busy housewife, this will mean time and effort saved on such tedious tasks as peeling, frying, mashing and other processes required in turning out these well-liked essentials of a hearty meal.

You will find some dehydrated potatoes on the shelves, but some forms are still in the testing stage. In dice form, you can use them chiefly in canned stews and hashes. They are also available as granules and shreds, that can be reconstituted to make mashed potatoes. In a recent market test, homemakers indicated they liked new experimental potatoe flakes.

Chipped Beef, Souther Style comes by its name rightfully. The popularity of sweet potatoes increases as you travel south.

Chipped beef, or dried beef as it is sometimes called, combines will with baked potatoes, rice or macaroni.

Chipped beef comes from a lean beef cut. It is cured, oven dried to remove the moisture and then sliced waferthin.

Creamed chipped beef is delicious on popovers, baked potatoes, sweet potatoes or toast. When shredded and frizzled, it makes a savory addition to scrambled eggs.

CREAMED DRIED BEEF—SOUTHERN STYLE

1 jar (4 ounces) chipped beef
2 tablespoons lard
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
3 to 4 tablespoons sweet potatoes
⅓ cup butter or margarine
½ cup brown sugar

Brown the chipped beef lightly in lard. Add the flour and mix well. Add cold milk and stir constantly until thickened. Slice sweet potatoes lengthwise, spread with butter, sprinkle with brown sugar, and place in a hot oven (400° F.) to brown. To serve, put the creamed beef in the center of a platter and surround with browned sweet potatoes. Garnish with parsley, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

Pork And Beans With Western Wienies

1 can (1 lb., 15 oz.) Pork and Beans
1 pound franks or wieners
¼ cup green pepper, chopped
2 tablespoons onion, minced
½ pound American cheese, sliced
½ cup catsup

Spread pork and beans in a greased one and one-half quart casserole. Slice the wieners lengthwise, being careful not to cut them all the way through. Open them up, and place on top of the pork and beans. Sprinkle with green pepper and onion, top with cheese slices. Pour catsup over the wieners and beans. Bake for 1 hour at 350°F. Serves four.

Lamb Thrifties

Economy-minded homemakers will find Lamb Thrifties a hearty addition to budget menus. Simply combine 1 pound ground lamb, 1 cup grated raw carrots, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and 2 teaspoons grated onion. Shape into patties. Put on broiler rack and place in broiler so that the top of the meat is 2 to 3 inches from the heat. Broil 8 to 10 minutes on each side. 6 servings.

Protein Rich Corn Dish

Corn can stand alone or be combined with fish or fowl, meat or other vegetables, cheese, eggs, or other nutriments. In soups, casseroles, main and side dishes, or desserts, canned corn is a favorite among children and adults.

If your tastes run to pancakes, waffles, and fritters, corn will please you. If you're having some friends to lunch, scalloped corn, a corn and fish casserole, or corn chowder will be welcome. If dinner is in the making, succotash or scalloped corn on your meat platter will hit the spot.

A meatless, but protein-rich dish, easy to prepare, called Corn - Tomato - and - Cheese - on - Toast, is suggested by U. S. Department of Agriculture home economists for a luncheon that will appeal to both gourmets and those who prefer good plain fare. This recipe is for six servings:

3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 onion, sliced
2 cups canned corn
2 cups canned tomatoes
2 teaspoons salt
¼ pound sharp cheese, cut thin

Brown flour in a heavy fry pan. Remove flour from pan and blend with 2 tablespoons of the butter or margarine. Brown the onion in the remaining butter or margarine. Add other ingredients, except cheese and cook about 10 minutes. Add the cheese and stir until melted. Pour over thin, crisp toast, and garnish, if desired, with slices of hard cooked egg.

Here's a combination of plentiful corn and plentiful chicken suggested by U. S. Department of Agriculture home economists, called Chicken-Corn Casserole. The recipe is for six servings.

¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour, sifted
1½ cups hot chicken broth
½ tablespoon fine chopped onion
1¾ cups chopped cooked chicken
1½ cups whole kernel corn, drained
½ cup grated American cheese
3 tablespoons chopped pimiento
¼ cup dry bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon salt
Pepper

Melt butter or margarine, mix in the flour. Add the chicken broth, salt, pepper, and onion and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Combine with chicken, corn, cheese, and pimiento. Place mixture in a baking pan, top with bread crumbs, and bake at 350 degrees (moderate oven) for 45 minutes or until crumbs are brown.

Coconut Custard

(Makes eight ½ cup servings)
2 cups water
¾ cup (1 envelope) instant nonfat dry milk powder
2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup finely shredded coconut

Pour water into top of double broiler; sprinkle instant nonfat dry milk powder over surface. Stir until well blended; scald over boiling water. Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored; beat in sugar and vanilla. Slowly blend Starlac into eggs. Strain. Stir in coconut. Pour into eight ½ cup custard cups. Place cups in baking pan. Put in preheated slow oven (300°F.); pour hot water in pan to depth of 1 inch. Bake until a sharp knife, inserted near center, comes out clean, about 50 to 55 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool. Chill before serving. 105 calories per serving.

Dunk for Shrimp Fondue

Dunk For Shrimp Fondue

If you haven't had the gustatory enjoyment of sharing cheese fondue with friends, you're missing something. Make sure there are none among you who would frown on "community dunking" though, for fondue requires close friendship among the "indulgers."

To Americanize the fondue delightfully, try handy frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup as the base. It gives pretty pink color and the cheese and shrimp flavors "marry" so happily. King Edward VII, a real gourmet considered genuine fondue one of his favorite recipes. And Swiss families have long enjoyed it . . . just as your friends will.

Fondue should be made in a chafing dish or double boiler, and is eaten directly from the dish. Proper procedure is to let guests spear cubes of crusty bread with two-pronged forks. Everyone gives the bread a dunk in the fondue . . . then a little stir. The stirring helps maintain the proper consistency of the fondue when each person takes his turn in rotation. Try to keep the mixture bubbling gently, but never let it boil!

Fondue, so delectable is a surefire way to break the ice at any party. Start dunking!

SHRIMP FONDUE

1 clove garlic
1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
1 cup finely shredded Swiss cheese
2 tablespoons dry white wine (optional)
Rye or French bread, unsliced

Rub chafing dish or double boiler pan with clove of garlic. Heat shrimp soup over hot water until completely thawed; stir often. Add shredded cheese; heat until cheese melts; if desired, stir in wine. Cut bread into squares. Let each person dip bread into cheese mixture. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Pork And Beans With Barbecued Franks

1 can (1 lb., 15 oz.) Pork and Beans
1 pound franks or wieners
Barbecue Sauce:
½ cup catsup
1 cup water
¼ cup Tarragon vinegar
¼ cup Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons A-1 sauce
1 teaspoon salt
2 dashes Tabasco
½ teaspoon chili powder

Grease a one and one-half quart casserole. Pour the Pork and Beans into it and top with the franks or wieners.

Combine all ingredients for the barbecue sauce, stirring well. Pour the sauce over the franks and beans. Bake for 1 hour at 350°F. Serves four.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Approximately 1,500 measures have been introduced in the Senate since the 85th Congress convened last month, so I feel it is time to submit for your consideration a report on some of the bills and resolutions which have been offered with my sponsorship.

Since I have discussed some of the items with you on previous occasions, I will confine most of these comments to legislation from the past few weeks.

CHAPLAINS' DAY. The Senate Judiciary Committee is now considering a resolution which I introduced to authorize the President to designate the first Sunday of February of each year as a special day of observance to honor the four chaplains who gave their lives when the U.S.S. Dorchester was sunk.

The four chaplains, who were members of different religious faiths, went down with the Dorchester when it was sunk off the coast of Greenland on February 3, 1943.

In addition to offering our Nation a special opportunity to pay tribute to those four heroes in particular, my legislation also provides for the day to be dedicated to all the other chaplains "who gave their lives that others might live."

CHARLES COUNTY COMMEMORATION. A bill which I introduced for myself and Senator Butler to authorize the Postmaster General to issue a special stamp commemorating the 300th anniversary of the chartering of Charles County has been referred to the Senate Committee on Post Office and Civil Service.

"CONSTELLATION" PRESERVATION. The historic ship "Constellation" would be restored and preserved as a part of the Fort McHenry National Shrine under provisions of a bill which I co-sponsored with Senator Butler.

The measure is now before the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

AID FOR RETIRED TEACHERS. School teachers of the District of Columbia will receive greater retirement benefits if legislation which I recently co-sponsored is passed. The Senate District of Columbia Committe, of which I am a member, is studying the proposal.

D. C. UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION. The Senate District Committee has also received another of my bills concerning Washington affairs, this one to extend to 26 weeks the period during which all persons who are entitled to unemployment compensation may collect such payment.

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON—It is again proposed that the United States give its support to the formation of an international "Organization for Trade Cooperation." In the variable climate of world affairs, the old log-rolling process of establishing tariffs is outmoded, but most will agree that tariffs should be predicated upon sound principles approved by the Congress. This view reflects present day concern for the impact of over-indulgent reciprocal trade policies.

In recent years, the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act has been extended on a "gradual, selective and reciprocal" basis, and lately the perils of foreign competition to American industry have come in for public and Congressional scrutiny. With many countries of the community of free nations enjoying an unusual prosperity, and with wage scales in these same countries from one-tenth to one-half those of the American workingman, there are those who still argue that, notwithstanding the effect upon our own industries, the gates to all American markets must be thrown open. Ignored in these arguments is the fact that our tariffs are now the lowest in history and among the lowest in the world.

Even so, there again comes to the Congress a new version of an old proposal to create an "Organization for Trade Cooperation" (OTC) which would fully formalize the "General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade" (GATT) born in 1947 with the blessing of the New-Fair Deal. GATT outlaws traditional rules for regulating international trade and proposes a scheme for attaining a free trade utopia through the reduction of tariffs on a multi-nation basis. It attempts to consolidate the opposing trade policies of some 35 countries, and while the United States is a party to GATT, it has never been submitted to the Congress.

Originally, the machinery to administer GATT was to be contain in an "International Trade Organization" (ITO). ITO was to be an arm of the United Nations with the goal of "a balanced and expanding world economy." Substituted for the concept of free initiative was the idea of a planned economy and political control of production, trade and monetary matters. These socialistic colorations doomed ITO for failure, and it was subsequently abandoned. Yet, the thinking of GATT persists, and the dangers of such so-called "free trade" are neglected.

The similarity between the discarded ITO and OTC is striking. U. S. membership in OTC requires Congressional approval, but the real point in question is whether or not American jobs and industries shall be subject to the decisions of an international body or to those of the Congress of the United States.

Vegetable Variety For Beef Stew

When there is call for variety in your menu, this beef stew is sure to fill the bill. Beef is plentiful and a good buy for budget-wise homemakers.

But one dish you'll want to serve time and again, especially during the cold winter, is a hearty beef stew.

Here, it has taken on a different guise, the vegetables are either frozen or canned lima beans and whole kernel corn. Certainly this beef stew is a colorful meal for a cold, dreary day, and it's so economical.

Another way to serve beef cubes, is browned and cooked in liquid with sliced mushrooms.

Beef Stew with Corn and Lima Beans

1 pound beef for stew
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (1lb. 4 oz.) tomatoes
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoons pepper
1 cup canned or frozen lima beans
1 cup whole kernel corn

Brown beef cubes in lard or drippings. Add onion and garlic and brown lightly. Pour off drippings. Add tomatoes and seasonings. Cover and cook in a slow oven (300° F.) or simmer on top of range for 1½ to 2 hours. About 30 minutes before serving, add lima beans and corn. Cover and simmer until done. Thicken liquid for gravy, if desired. Yield: 4 servings.

Canadian-Style Bacon Specialty

A recipe with seasonal appeal is Canadian-style bacon with spiced applesauce. Combine 1 cup unseasoned applesauce, ¼ cup brown sugar and ¼ teaspoon cloves. Mix well. Place 8 slices Canadian-style bacon, cut ¼ to ⅜ inch thick in a baking dish. Top each slice with 2 tablespoons applesauce mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 20 to 30 minutes. 4 servings.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"I'm sorry, madam—we can't validate a ticket you got for parking overtime on the street!"

Desserts Are Low In Cost With Evaporated Milk

Dessert is a special case. On the one hand, it isn't really the main point of dinner. But on the other hand, dessert, is the finishing touch that sends everyone away from the table happy—it does for dinner what a jaunty feather does for a hat. Under the circumstances, the best solution to the knotty problem is to prepare desserts that are gay but simple.

Modern food packers offer a lot of help in this direction. You have your choice of all kinds of canned fruits, frozen baked goods, and prepared mixes that make short work of fixing cakes, pies and puddings. If the mood strikes you, you can even buy canned crepes Suzette.

And if the mood to create your own dessert comes over you, another modern product, evaporated milk will take you fast and far on your way. For example, you can make a fine mocha pudding simply by starting with one package of chocolate instant pudding mix and adding a tall can of evaporated milk, one half cup water and one tablespoon instant coffee powder in place of the usual milk. Because evaporated milk contains twice the solids of whole milk, you get double the nutrients, and a delicious coffee flavor. Adding evaporated milk and coffee powder to instant butterscotch pudding mix results in a toffee pudding of original and excellent flavor.

Instant vanilla pudding mix provides still other possibilities. Take a package of pudding mix, a tall can of evaporated milk (which comes to 1⅔ cups of liquid) and a small jar of any flavor of baby food fruit that pleases you—apricot, applesauce, plum, or prune are all happy choices. Mix your ingredients briskly for about a minute, either by beating them in a bowl or by shaking them vigorously in any container with a tight-fitting lid. In less than five minutes you have turned out the equivalent of a vivacious fruit custard.

Well, maybe you'd rather eat pie or sherbet. We hardly need tell you that evaporated milk in pumpkin pie is almost as much of a tradition as pumpkin pie itself. Since evaporated milk whips so well when chilled, it also makes a fine foundation for chiffon pies. Moreover, you can not only whip it to give the pie lightness, but combine some with the gelatine that goes into every chiffon pie; this shrewd maneuver gives the pie extra creaminess and good nourishment of the right kind without too many calories.

Chocolate Chiffon Pie

⅔ cup evaporated milk
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup sugar, divided
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup evaporated milk
½ cup water
2 eggs, separated
1 6-ounce package (1-cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 9-inch nut or baked pastry shell

Chill ⅔ cup of the evaporated milk in freezer tray of refrigerator until ice crystals form around edges. Combine gelatine, ¼ cup of the sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Stir in remaining ½ cup of the evaporated milk and water. Add egg yolks and mix well. Add chocolate morsels. Cook over boiling water until chocolate is melted, stirring often. Remove from heat and beat with rotary beater until smooth. Add vanilla. Chill until the mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; gradually beat in remaining ¼ cup of the sugar. Fold into gelatine mixture. Turn chilled evaporated milk into chilled bowl and beat with rotary beater or high speed of electric mixer until milk is stiff. Fold into gelatine mixture. Turn into pie shell and chill until firm. Yield: 1 9-inch pie.

As for sherbet, a cup of evaporated milk, a can of fruit juice concentrate, and a little salt and sugar are all you need to carry the day. Here again, you get the benefit of whipped evaporated milk to keep creaminess up and costs and calories down, and simplify the recipe in the bargain. Here again, too, you get your choice of flavors: any of the citrus fruits, pineapple and grape all turn out very well.

Orange Sherbet

1 cup evaporated milk
1 can (6-ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate ½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt

Chill evaporated milk in freezer tray of refrigerator until ice crystals form around edges. Turn into chilled bowl and whip with rotary beater or high speed of electric mixer until milk is stiff. Combine frozen orange juice concentrate, sugar and salt and add 1 tablespoon at a time, whipping until very stiff. Turn into freezer tray and freeze until firm.

Yield: 1¼ quarts.

Economy Pork Also Fashionable

Bounty on the budget — that's Pork Steaks with Glazed Apple Rings. During the winter months both pork and apples are in plentiful supply and are exceptionally good buys for budget conscious homemakers.

Apple slices or applesauce is to pork as the traditional mint jelly is to lamb. Either seems to add a perfect touch.

Pork shoulder steaks, are best braised. This method assures tender, juicy, well-done meat. All fresh pork is cooked to the well-done stage.

Pork Steaks—Glazed Apple Rings

Flour
3 tablespoons lard
Salt and pepper
¼ cup water
3 large apples
½ cup grape jelly
½ cup water

Dredge pork shoulder steaks in flour. Brown in lard, pour off drippings. Season. Add water. Cover tightly. Cook slowly until tender, about 45 minutes. Core and slice apples. Dissolve grape jelly in ½ cup water. Add apples. Cook until tender. Serve with pork steaks. Yield: 4 servings.

Cues To Buying Apple Products

Canned apple slices—plump, juicy, superb for pies, desserts and relishes—come in the No. 2 can, equal to 2½ cups . . . just enough for a good 8-inch pie.

Apple sauce—a versatile product for any homemaker's shelf—comes in No. 303 can, equal to 2 cups; in 17-oz. jars, a full 2 cups; in 15-oz. jars, a scant 2 cups; and in 8-oz. size in both cans and jars, equal to 1 cup.

Apple juice—delicious cold, delicious hot—you'll find in a variety of sizes from individual 6-oz. and 12-oz. cans, in quart bottles, on up to half-gallon and gallon jugs.

Ham Muffins

This speedy modern meat creation is just the dish for a short order dinner call. Combine 1 pound ground smoked ham, ½ pound ground pork, 2 cups cooked macaroni and cheese and 1 egg. Cut the macaroni into small pieces. Grease 12 small or 8 medium muffin cups. Fill cups with meat mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 45 minutes. This yields 6 to 8 servings.

Handy Time Saver

"Julienne" refers to food that is cut into match-like strips. When slicing meat in julienne-style pieces, cut through several slices at one time.

Serve Eggs Au Gratin

(Makes 4 to 6 servings)

- 1½ cups liquefied nonfat dry milk
- 5 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon oregano
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ⅛ teaspoon paprika
- 1 (8-oz.) package sharp process cheddar cheese, shredded
- 6 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- 4 medium-size tomatoes, sliced

Pour liquefied instant into top of double boiler; sprinkle flour and seasonings over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture begins to thicken. Add cheese; stir until melted. Arrange eggs and tomatoes in alternate layers in a buttered 8-inch square baking dish; top with cheese sauce. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 12 minutes or until thoroughly heated.

Fricassee Rice Bake

Casseroles are ever popular, especially with the "cook." Here's a marvelous one making use of canned chicken fricassee. Place the following in a 1½-quart covered casserole: 1 package (5 ounces) pre-cooked rice, 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, 1 teaspoon salt, dash black pepper, 1 can (16 ounces) chicken fricassee, and ½ cup water. Mix together; cover and bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 35 to 40 minutes. Makes 4 to 5 generous servings.

Mock Chicken Legs Simple As ABC

A culinary surprise is in store for the family when the head chef in your household prepares these braised mock chicken legs.

1. Brown meat on all sides in its own or a small amount of fat in heavy utensil.
2. Season with salt and pepper.
3. Add small amount of liquid, ¼ to ⅓ cup, if necessary.
4. Cover tightly.
5. Cook at low temperature until tender.

Mock Chicken Legs — Country Style

- ¾ pound ground veal
- ¼ pound ground pork or pork sausage
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 5 wooden or metal skewers
- ¼ cup enriched flour
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 2 cups milk
- Salt for gravy
- Pepper for gravy

Combine ground meat, salt and pepper. Divide meat into 5 portions. Mold each portion firmly on a skewer, shaping the meat like a drumstick. Dredge with flour. Brown on all sides in lard or drippings. Cover and cook slowly for about 30 minutes. Remove drumsticks from pan, stir remaining flour into drippings and add milk. Stir until smooth. Season gravy. Serve gravy over drumsticks. Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

Washington's Birthday Drums

Buy a large, round individual ice cream cup for each person (we like cherry-vanilla best for this). Put Cream Sandwiches on a piece of waxed paper and roll into fine crumbs. Strip the cardboard from each ice cream and roll in cookie crumbs. Press thin pretzel sticks around sides of each drum for lacing. Freeze until serving time, then top each with a pair of drumsticks made of pretzel sticks and whole cherries.

Note: If it's a party, make a drum centerpiece to carry out the theme. Cover a round box with crepe paper and lace the sides with ribbon. Drumsticks are two whole Cream Sandwiches speared with plastic drinking straws. Toy soliders add to the fun and make fine favors.

Appetizing Veal Steaks With Onions

Simply wonderful and wonderfully simple is the key phrase befitting this recipe, Veal Steaks in Onion Sauce.

Because veal comes from a young animal, it does not have a fat covering, and bacon or salt pork are often placed over veal roasts.

Veal requires long, slow cooking. As cooking progresses, the light pink of the fresh veal becomes lighter.

Veal Steaks in Onion Sauce

- 2 pounds veal round steak, cut ¾ inch thick
- ⅛ cup enriched flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ cup lard
- 1 package dried onion soup
- 2 cups boiling water

Mix flour, salt and pepper. Dredge veal steaks in seasoned flour and save remaining flour for gravy. Brown steaks in lard in frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Dissolve onion soup in boiling water and add ½ cup to steaks. Cover tightly and simmer 1½ hours, or until tender. Remove steaks from frying-pan. Stir in flour. Add remaining soup, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened. Serve with steaks. Yield: 6 servings.

Chicken And Cheese Sauce

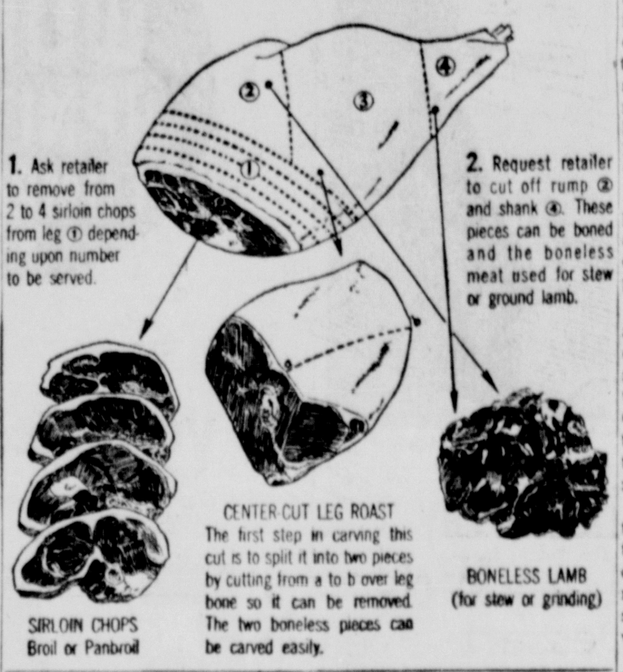

- 1 (½ lb.) package process Cheddar cheese, shredded
- ⅔ cup water
- ⅓ cup instant nonfat dry milk powder
- 1½ cups diced cooked chicken
  OR
- 2 (8 oz.) cans boned chicken
- ¼ cup diced pimientos

Pour water in top of double boiler; add instant nonfat dry milk powder. Stir just until blended. Stir in remaining ingredients. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until cheese melts and mixture is thoroughly heated. Serve over waffles.

LAMB LEG

Three Meals from a Heavy Leg

Sauce-Y "Sweets" En Casserole

This dish starts with that plain and homey vegetable, sweet potatoes. But by the time it's ready, you could proudly offer it as company fare, so elegant it looks, so fine it tastes.

But, even more, you'll want to serve these sauce-y sweets for family treats. Sweet, rich and hearty, the dish is a satisfying and filling winter vegetable dish, especially good with pan browned sausages or pork chops.

The fun part is that another family favorite works the magic . . . canned apple sauce . . . together with walnuts, and a deft touch of spice and seasoning. The potatoes receive a thick spooning of the sauce and rest luxuriously in a warm bubble of it during the baking.

Complicated to put together? No! Simple as a,b,c. Canned sweet potatoes, canned apple sauce . . . and you're on your way. And here is the way:

Sauce-y "Sweets" En Casserole

- 1 (1 lb. 2 oz.) can sweet potatoes
- 2 cups canned apple sauce
- ½ cup dark brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup coarsely broken walnuts
- ½ teaspoon mace

Drain sweet potatoes; arrange in casserole. Combine apple sauce, brown sugar and lemon juice; spread over potatoes. Dot with butter or margarine; sprinkle with nuts and mace. Bake in moderately hot (375°) oven for 35 minutes. Yields 6 servings.

Khrushchev Tells

insist on the removal of United States bases from their territories. Therefore, he argued, the United States would be wise to begin at once to seek a different way out.

Thence he passed on to the Middle East, which he described as a situation "both complicated and dangerous, where the smoke of battle has not settled." For these reasons, he declared, an agreement among the great powers was needed that would serve the twin purposes already noted, of a guaranty of free self-development for the Middle Eastern people, plus a guaranty that they could do what they chose with their oil resources.

Mr. Khrushchev further denied that there was any contradiction between suggesting intergovernmental negotiations on the Middle East one day, and then indicting the Middle Eastern policy of the United States in the United Nations the next day. "We wanted to call things by their proper names," he said.

With an obvious reference to the Eisenhower doctrine, he went on, "The United States has repeatedly infringed on this country's frontiers and interfered in the affairs of other countries, and, therefore, we thought the question should be raised."

Finally, Mr. Khrushchev was asked the meaning of the seemingly sudden replacement of former Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

He answered that the change was made only "in order to make the best use of the personnel available; our policy had already been set forth in the report to the Supreme Soviet by Comrade Shepilov, and no change of policy is implied."

Anyway, Mr. Khrushchev added, Soviet policy was made collectively by the Presidium, and the Foreign Minister's task was "only to execute the policy already made."

Then, suddenly giving vent to a pleased chuckle, he concluded: "Even our glum comrade Gromyko can also smile very nicely if his partners in negotiation are smiling, too."

So ended this discussion of foreign affairs. It left an impression of a strong, clear, practical intellect, studying foreign relations with considerable astuteness, seeing particularly the important opportunities that this troubled world offers to the Kremlin's policy-makers, but viewing the whole, always and in all places, with the strong refraction of Soviet spectacles.

Along The Potomac

by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON—My recent trip to Europe, for the purpose of obtaining current information on the Hungarian Refugee program to be used in consideration of legislation on this subject, proved enlightening. Specifically, I investigated our security measures and sought information on the exact nature of the persons who have been and are fleeing from Hungary. I was able to get some ideas for the use of the House Immigration Committee on the proportion of these people who are actually refugees fleeing in fear of danger to their lives or their personal freedom.

On our trip we visited Vienna and Berlin. I talked with our diplomatic representatives and security people, the representatives of the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration, our immigration authorities, the Red Cross, and Austrian citizens with no official positions.

In Berlin, I was impressed with the thoroughness of the examination given by the Germans. Of course, their problem, in many respects, is easier than ours since they are Germans dealing with Germans.

In spite of the difficulties faced by our examiners in screening the Hungarian refugees, they are doing an excellent job. It does not appear that many real Communists are getting through. It is also important to note that many of the early arrivals who were obviously Communists or Communist sympathizers return to Hungary. Many of those who remain in the refugee camps are spotted by other refugees. Our security officials in Hungary believe that this is after all the best way of detecting the Communist.

From all the information we could gather from every source, it must be concluded that a large number of persons who have fled Hungary into Austria are not legitimate refugees. A large proportion of them are opportunists taking advantage of this situation to fulfill a long-held ambition to get to the United States. I believe a recent disturbance in England among the Hungarian refugees illustrates this attitude. Some 3,000 complained that they were misled in coming to Britain from Austria. They contended they came to England with the understanding that it would be a transit point for them to the United States.

It seems to me that if these persons were legitimate refugees fleeing in fear of their lives they would welcome any decent place of refuge.

We also found that a large number of people coming over are illiterate and in extremely poor health. By poor health I do not mean merely the result of the ravages of the revolution and the hardship of their flight. Many of these people are obviously persons who have been in bad health for many years, and some must have been inmates of mental institutions. Quite a few of the people coming across the border recently possess Hungarian passports. Nearly all of these who have such passports are very old people, or people unfit for work because of poor health.

Many of the refugees are reporting that they expect another outbreak sometime in the spring. There is good reason to suspect hostile outbreaks in other areas. It would appear well to consider how we could handle another situation should it arise in the future.

I believe that the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration is the proper agency to handle this problem on a permanent basis. This is the international organization in which 28 nations are cooperating in the movement of people from overpopulated and underdeveloped areas into countries which need and can absorb more people. New life should be breathed into I.C.E.M. Every effort should be made to increase the member nations to make more use of it and to make larger financial contributions to it.

I have introduced two bills to provide for improved legal services in the Armed Services. One bill amends the U. S. Code to provide that the Judge Advocate General and the Surgeon General are entitled to rank, pay, and allowances of a lieutenant general while in service with the Armed Services. The other bill makes provisions for a legal corps similar to the medical corps in the various services with similar rank and pay.

Plumbing Inspector Bill Opposed

A petition was received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with the names of 29 persons affixed—including three mayors of Georges Creek communities.

The petition states the signers are opposed to the naming of a plumbing inspector for Allegany County. The petition stated that the county does not need a plumbing inspector and that the county and state health departments do an excellent job in safeguarding the health and welfare of residents.

There were 29 names on the petition including Mayors Verl A. Ash, Midland; Virgil Alexander, Lonaconing; and Arthur P. Hoffa, Barton.

Commissioner James Orr commented that he has not changed his position in opposition to the measure.

The board was also informed that it would have to provide $143,000 in order to obtain approximately $117,000 in federal aid matching funds for secondary roads.

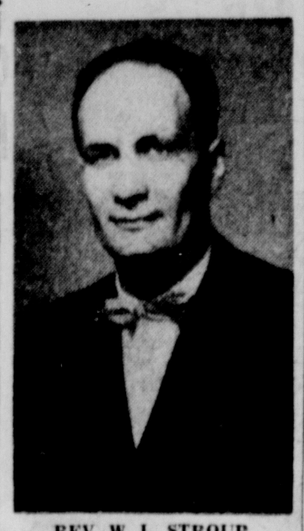

The ratio is about 55 per cent to 45 per cent with the county providing the larger amount. The difference results from the fact the federal government does not participate in preliminary engineering or administration costs in connection with road projects.

A meeting will be held next week by the commissioners with officials of the State Roads Commission in Baltimore to discuss the federal aid matching fund program.

Calvary Baptist Minister Accepts Pastorate In Pa.

REV. W. L. STROUP

Rev. William L. Stroup has announced his resignation as pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, Cresaptown, effective Monday, March 18.

Announcement of the resignation was made at last Sunday's services, Rev. Mr. Stroup explaining he had accepted a similar position at Regular Baptist Church, Smethport, Pa.

During the six years of Rev. Mr. Stroup's pastorate at Cresaptown, a new parsonage was built and construction started on a new church. The basement of the uncompleted new church has been utilized as quarters for Sunday School rooms, and church services have also been held there. The quarters have been furnished with new chairs, hymnals, electric organ and communion set, church officials said.

Calvary Church has shown a continued growth under the leadership of Rev. Mr. Stroup, with the Sunday School more than doubling in membership. The church has also acquired property for future erection of an educational building.

Under the leadership of its pastor, the church was incorporated and changed its name from Calvary Independent Church to Calvary Baptist, and became affiliated with the General Association of Regular Baptist Churches.

Rev. Mr. Stroup also instituted a Missionary Conference at the Cresaptown church, the project becoming an annual affair.

He and his family will take up residence in Smethport after closing the Cresaptown ministry. His family includes his wife and four children, two of whom were born since he assumed the pastorate at Cresaptown in January 1951.

Health Lay Group Meets

A meeting of the Allegany County Public Health Lay Council was held recently at the Parkside School with the LaVale group as host.

Mrs. Lester McGill presided. Reports were given by Mrs. George Tennent and Mrs. Thomas May.

Reports on clinics and amount of hours spent working at each was given by local chairmen from Barton, Frostburg, LaVale, Westernport, Cresaptown and Cumberland. Nurses reported for other clinics worked in each district.

Mrs. Robert Cessna, chairman of the cancer bandage project, reported that 444 dozen cancer bandages had been made by lay volunteers.

A by-laws revision committee was named with Mrs. May as chairman and local chairmen serving with her. A nominating committee was announced with Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, chairman, and Mrs. Albert Sittig and Miss Mary Margaret Smith, committee members. They will present candidates for the offices of vice-chairman and secretary at the May meeting when the Cumberland group will be host.

The members voted to hold a tenth anniversary observance in October of this year. The Council was organized in October, 1947 under the leadership of the late Dr. Joseph Franklin, county health officer, and Miss Margaret L. Morrissey, state health nurse.

Mrs. William Van Newkirk, psychologist, spoke on her work in the mental hygiene clinic and explained the different kinds of tests she uses.

A tour of the Parkside School was conducted by Miss Margaret Doak, principal.

Valley Trims Mt. Savage, 74-57, Cops Class B Title

Knights Earn Berth In Hub City Tourney

Pile Up 18-4 Lead At Quarter; Take 3rd County Title

Valley High School dealt out a 74-57 walloping to Mt. Savage High School last night in a playoff battle at Beall High School and won the Allegany County Class "B" scholastic title for the third successive year.

Before a crowd of approximately 900 persons, Coach John Meyers' Black Knights earned the right to represent Allegany County in the Class "B" district tournament at South Hagerstown High School March 8-9 by outclassing the team that held them on even terms during the regular season. Valley had won the first game on its home court, 69-52, and Mt. Savage bagged the second game 61-56. The Knights and Indians had 3-1 Class "B" records which necessitated last night's playoff contest in the Mountain City.

Lead By 20 Points

Gordon Green's field goal started Valley on its way and Coach Meyers' aggregation sprinted off to an 8-0 lead before the opposition crashed the scoring column. The Knights held the long end of an 18-4 score at the close of the first period and upped their lead to 20 points at 24-4 with six minutes to play in the second stanza. The count was 33-18 at intermission and 50-36 when the third quarter ended. Mt. Savage shaved Valley's lead to 12 points at 52-40 in the final period but that was the closest the Tribe could get to the Lonaconing quint.

John Johnson, of Valley, was helped off the court after he turned his ankle in the third quarter with Valley in front, 46-29, but he returned to action in the final period and finished the game without any sign of injury.

Ronald Young was Valley's leading point-maker with a total of 18 to his credit. His 2-for-2 at the foul line extended his string to 22 conversions out of 22 tries in four games. Dave Cook and John Johnson collected 14 points each and Green had 11 for the winners. Jim Harden was Mt. Savage's high scorer with 20 points. Roy Hott garnered 12, Jim Henckel 11 and George Bishields 10.

Cook and George Lauder of Valley exited on personal fouls in the final period.

Valley's 16th Victory

Valley's overall record is now 16 and 5 and is scheduled to play Northern at home February 26. Mt. Savage has won 12 and lost 7 and meets Somerset High on the Pennsylvanians' court tonight. The Indians had won six in a row prior to last night's setback.

In 1955 Valley won county and district honors but lost out in the state tourney. Last year the Black Knights swept everything to win the state Class "B" title at College Park. Coach Meyers had county Class "B" winners at Central High in 1950, 1951 and 1952. The 1950 and 1952 quints captured state titles while the 1951 team lost in the state finals at College Park. Yankees Give Tom Sturdivant Salary Boost

Bob Keegan's Wages Cut By White Sox

[By The Associated Press]

Granny Hamner, an all star infielder with a possible future as a Phillies pitcher, took a salary cut and Tom Sturdivant, surprise of the 1956 New York Yankee mound staff, earned a raise to headline major league baseball signers Thursday.

But a week before the training season opens, two of the National League's fleetest outfielders, Richie Ashburn of the Phillies, and Bill Bruton, of Milwaukee, continued to elude the dotted line.

Hamner, learning to pitch since an arm injury left him unable to swing his once-powerful bat, reportedly took a cut from Roy Hamey, Phillies' general manager. But Sturdivant's 16-8 record last year earned him a $5,000 raise to $13,000, it was understood. Sturdivant, 26, is a righthander.

The Yankees also signed rookie righthanders Ralph Terry and Jim DePalo. Both won 13 games for Denver of the triple A American Assn. last season. Thirty-two world champions are under contract with six more to go.

In other signings, the Chicago White Sox cut pitcher Bob Keegan's wage after his 5-7 record in '56. Keegan, sidelined for a month by an operation last year, was the 36th White Sox to sign.

The Kansas City Athletics had the signed contracts of catcher Bill Shantz, whose older brother Bob was traded away to the Yankees Tuesday to break up a brother battery; Eugene Host, 13-15 with Charleston last year; and Curt Roberts, a former Pirate up from Columbus of the International League. The A's have signed 34.

The Braves came up with Felix Mantilla, 22, a shortstop expected to battle Danny O'Connell for the second base job. He hit .283 in 35 games with the Braves last year after moving up from Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League.

Borrowed Specs Help

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The unsung hero of the Messmer-Marquette high school basketball game was't even on the floor.

He is Chuck Deischel, a Messmer student and bosom pal of ace forward Wayne Jelinski.

Shortly after the tapoff Jelinski broke his glasses. He was prepared to sit out the rest of the game when Deischel came out of the stands and offered his own spectacles.

Using the borrowed glasses, Jelinski scored 23 points in leading Messmer to a 63-59 victory.

Allegany At Hub City; Garrett Co. Title Is At Stake

LaSalle High's Explorers and Fort Hill's Sentinels meet on the latter's court, Allegany invades Hagerstown to play Mel Henry's North Hagerstown High Hubs and Northern's Huskies test Southern Highlanders in an important Garreet County Class "B" basketball battle tonight.

Fort Hill Won First

Coach George Geatz's Explorers are out to avenge a 66-51 defeat when they collide with the Sentinels in a return game on the Greenway Avenue boards. Three games remain on the LaSalle schedule and the Explorers would have to make a sweep to finish the campaign in the .500 class. The team's mark now is 8-10. Fort Hill has won 5 of 19 engagements this season.

Allegany already has won the city title.

LaSalle and Fort Hill will be meeting for the forty-third time and the Sentinels hold a 23-19 edge in wins.

Coach Gene Shaw's Campers will be angling for win No. 17 when they tackle the Hubs in a return game tonight. Allegany won the opener of the current season on December 11 from North Hagerstown, 50-44.

Garrett Title At Stake

The Southern-Northern game may see Garrett County's Class "B" champion crowned tonight. Coach Lilburn Brown's Huskies won the first game of the series on their home court, 68-63, and can bag the title by winning tonight at Oakland. A win for Southern would tie up the series and necessitate a playoff contest to determine Garrett's representative in the district tourney at Hagersown, March 8-9.

Martinsburg at Keyser, the Tri-Towns battle between Bruce and Piedmont at Westernport, and the Bedford at Hyndman, Bedford County League games, also are attracting attention tonight.

Potomac Valley Conference games bring together Franklin and Elk Garden at the latter place with the Elks shooting for their 16th consecutive victory, and Capon Bridge at Romney High.

Other games are Paw Paw at Oldtown, Hillsboro at Circleville, Beall Jayvees at Flintstone, Greenbank at Moorefield, Berkeley Springs at Shepherdstown, Sanders at Berryville, Va., and Frederick at Musselman.

Glenville Upsets Fairmont, 91-77

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., Feb. 21 (AP) — Alderson-Broaddus dumped Morris Harvey, 85-76, and Glenville State upset second-seeded Fairmont State, 91-77, tonight in the quarter final round of the State Conference Basketball Tournament.

Earlier today, West Virginia Tech nipped West Virginia Wesleyan, 87-84, and West Liberty eliminated Bluefield State, 77-71.

West Liberty will play Tech and Glenville goes against A-B in the semi-finals tomorrow night.

Glenville provided the only major upset in the 12 tourney games that has whittled the starting field of 16 teams down to four.

Four Per Cent Ruling Aired By Race Solons

Regulation May Be Wiped Off Books

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 21 (AP)—The controversial "4 per cent rule" which has kept the horse racing fraternity at sword's point for nearly a year was aired today.

After a prolonged hearing by both sides before the newly organized State Racing Commission, Chairman James G. McClure of Wheeling said a decision would be forthcoming within 10 days.

McClure, who is municipal judge of Wheeling, made it clear that whatever rule the commission agrees upon will be decisive—the 4 per cent regulation will either be retained and enforced impartially, or it will be wiped off the books.

The old Racing Commission which functioned under former Gov. William C. Marland last summer adopted a rule requiring that minimum purses at race tracks in West Virginia be not less than 4 per cent of the total pari-mutuel handle.

Advocated By HBPA

That rule, strongly advocated by the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Assn., replaced a former regulation which fixed minimum purses at $800 a race for tracks less than a mile long, and $1,000 for mile tracks.

The old Marland commission, headed by John F. Ambrose of Charles Town as chairman, became embroiled in controversy which involved the HPBA and the management which operates both the five-furlong Charles Town track and the mile track at Waterford Park.

In one of its last official acts, Ambrose's commission suspended application of the 4 per cent rule during a current winter meeting at Charles Town.

One of the early acts of Republican Gov. Cecil Underwood when he moved into office was to remove all the incumbent racing commissioners and appoint a brand new commission headed by Chairman McClure.

Opposed To Ruling

Joining forces in oppposition to the controversial rule at today's hearing were: Harry Byrer, Martinsburg attorney representing the Charles Town racing interests; Atty. Carl O. Schmidt of Wheeling, federal receiver for Wheeling Downs, and State Senator Clarence Martin (D-Berkeley).

Present as advocates of the rule were John A. Manfuso of Chevy Chase, Md., an advisor to the national president of the HBPA, and Stanley C. Morris, attorney for the NBPA.

Art Aragon Convicted Of Fight Fixing

Jury Deliberates More Than 10 Hours

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21 (AP)—The colorful and lucrative 12-year ring career of Art Aragon probably ended today when a Superior Court jury convicted the Los Angeles welterweight of felony fight-fixing charges.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated more than 10 hours since last Tuesday before finding the Golden Boy guilty of offering unranked Dick Goldstein $500 to throw a fight in Texas.

The 29-year-old Aragon stared blankly when the verdict was read aloud in the packed courtroom. Then, accompanied by his wife, Georgia, a brother, Joe, 19, and attorney Paul Caruso, Aragon walked in stunned silence from the courtroom through a barrage of newsmen's flashbulbs.

Says It Isn't So

"Honest to God, it isn't so," Aragon said before leaving the hall of justice where he has nervously spent the past two days awaiting the verdict. He remains free on $1,000 bond.

The maximum penalty could be five years in prison, a $5,000 fine, or both.

Caruso said he intends to file a motion for a new trial March 14, a week before Aragon comes up before Judge Herbert V. Walker for a probation hearing and sentence.

The conviction probably was the coup de grace to Aragon's fistic future. The State Athletic Commission has indicated that his 1957 boxing license depended on an acquittal.

Offered Money For Dive

The Texas Athletic Commission suspended Aragon after Goldstein reported that Aragon offered him the money to take a fourth-round dive in the bout scheduled for Dec. 18 at San Antonio. This ban has spread to all other NBA states.

Aragon came down with a fever the night of the fight and the bout was canceled.

Pimlico Fate Is Left Up To Legislature

Race Commission Hears Arguments

BOWIE, Md., Feb. 21 (AP) — The fate of old Pimlico, home of the Preakness Stakes, is now up to the Maryland Legislature.

Should Pimlico continue to operate in its crowded setting in northwest Baltimore? Or should the Maryland Jockey Club, which operates the historic track, move its meeting to the more modern Laurel track, halfway between Baltimore and Washington?

The Maryland Racing Commission was asked what it thought about the proposal, made by both tracks, to hold both racing meets at Laurel.

The commission listened to everyone concerned, including Donald Lillis, president of Bowie, Maryland's third mile track. Lillis protested the suggested merger vigorously, contending it placed too much power in the Laurel management.

The commission was to have announced its recommendation yesterday. But the three-man board put it off until today. Then late this afternoon, it neatly sidestepped any commitment by saying the issue was "one for the citizens of Maryland" to decide.

That means it is up to the Legislature to say whether the Pimlico plant will give way to apartment houses or remain a testing ground to improve the breed.

There was no immediate reaction from the lawmakers at Annapolis. The yes-and-no decision by the commission apparently was unexpected.

Hamner To Get Less For Pitching

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—Granny Hamner of the Philadelphia Phillies won't be paid as much for pitching as he received at shortstop.

Roy Hamey, Phillies' general manager, announced today that Hamner had signed his 1957 contract. While no specific figures were given, it was understood Hamner took a cut in salary.

The 30-year-old ex-shortstop is attempting to make the Phils' mound staff since a shoulder injury left him unable to swing a bat effectively. The injury did not affect his throwing arm.

Palmer Leads Houston Open

Latrobe Pro Posts Opening Round 67

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 21 (AP)—Arnold Palmer, 27-year-old former national amateur champion from Latrobe, Pa., fired a five-under-par 67 today to overcome three veterans and two youngsters and grab the first round lead in the $36,000 Houston Open.

Palmer, a professional three years, was in trouble on two holes but finished with a 34-33—67 for the 7,200-yard, par 72 Memorial Park course, longest in the winter golf tour.

This left the 1954 amateur king one stroke ahead of Peter Thomson, the British Open champion from Australia; Jimmy Demaret, the hometown gallery favorite; Doug Ford, former PGA champion from Mahopac, N. Y.; Buddy Weaver, young Houston pro, and amateur Phil Rodgers, University of Houston freshman.

Thomson, a late finisher, missed a tie with Arnold when he saw an 18-foot putt on the final green stop a foot short of the cup. The Australian had been tabbed with Cary Middlecoff and Jay Hebert as pre-tournament favorites but Hebert took a 73, Middlecoff a 74.

Palmer, the Eastern Open winner last year at Baltimore, used a hot putter and fancy chip shots to lead the field of 158 that began the richest tournament on the winter tour.

A 20-foot chip shot and birdie putts of 5, 5 and 1 feet left Palmer four under par through eight holes, but he had to take a six on the par four ninth after driving into a water-filled ditch.

Brooklyn Buys Los Angeles Park And Franchise In PCL

Cubs Get Ft. Worth In Swap; Dodgers Looking To Future

VERO BEACH, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who have repeatedly warned New York City authorities they must have help in building a new stadium soon or would move elsewhere, today purchased the Los Angeles ball park and franchise in the Pacific Coast League.

After announcing the purchase from the Chicago Cubs, Dodger President Walter O'Malley said he presently plans to operate the Los Angeles team in the PCL but indicated again that the Dodgers may move out of Brooklyn. The Cubs got the Dodgers' Fort Worth franchise in the Texas League in exchange.

"In buying Wrigley Field, Los Angeles, we are re-investing baseball dollars in baseball," he said in a prepared statement. "There's an element of protection for the future in this action."

Sold Two Parks

The Dodgers recently sold their Ebbets Field home and their Montreal (International League) real estate for about $4,000,000. This money, O'Malley said, would be used by the Dodgers as their share of building a new stadium in Brooklyn.

A sports authority has been established in New York State to study the question of whether a sports center and stadium should be built in Brooklyn.

The Dodgers leased Ebbets Field for three years from the new owner but only a few weeks ago O'Malley said that he would wait six months for the city to act and if nothing concrete was done, the club would make other arrangements.

Time Running Out

O'Malley, at today's conference, said the sports center authority hasn't even received the $25,000 and hasn't even an office or a telephone.

"There is a time table on the Brooklyn sports center but time is running out," he said. "The Dodgers will play in a new park in 1960. If not Brooklyn, then somewhere else."

Asked about Los Angeles' chances of going big league, O'Malley replied:

"It is my considered opinion Los Angeles will have major league baseball no later than 1960."

He said if the Dodgers didn't move there he wouldn't stand in the way if another big league team drafted the territory "as long as we would be fully compensated."

Not Bluffing

"Perhaps people, who accused me of bluffing will now realize I was taking logical steps," O'Malley said. "I never was bluffing nor would I like to hear it said I am using a big club (on the city of New York.)"

O'Malley, pointing out that the club had $4,000,000 to spend for a stadium, said "the Dodgers and Long Island Railroad would gladly pay the $7,500,000 the new stadium will cost in Brooklyn but because about one and a half blocks of land has to be condemned, it has to be built by a public authority. This property has to be condemned regardless."

Most Coveted Cities

Los Angeles and San Francisco are the two most coveted cities for possible big league franchises. The Boston Red Sox bought the San Francisco Club, Nov. 28, 1955.

In the Dodgers transaction, the Cubs received the Fort Worth franchise but not the park and real estate. The Dodgers sold that to Marvin Kratter, the same real estator who purchased Ebbets Field. The Cubs will lease La Grave Field in Fort Worth from Kratter.

Seniority

Entering his eighth season, Art Lewis has held the longest tenure of any West Virginia football coach. His record of 44 wins and 24 losses, a .647 winning percentage, also is one of the best.

Grace Methodist took over second place in the top flight with an 18-2 record by downing Living Stone Church of the Brethren, 38-26.

The Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League match between Green's Chevrolet and the Cumberland Woodmen of the World has been postponed from tonight until Monday at the W.O.W. Home.

Bill Would Cut Grace Period On Unclaimed Bets

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 21 (AP) — The Maryland House of Delegates approved today cutting from three to one year the time in which winning tickets at horse racing tracks may be cashed.

The State gets the money if bettors forget to cash their tickets or lose them. The State "won" $80,453 last year because such tickets from 1953 hadn't shown up.

The next move to cut the grace period to one year is up to the Senate.

Tech Squeezes By Wesleyan Quint, 87-84

West Liberty Tops Bluefield, 77-71

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., Feb. 21 (AP)—West Virginia Tech squeaked past West Virginia Wesleyan 87-84 and West Liberty downed stubborn Bluefield State 77-71 today in the quarter finals of the State Conference Basketball Tournament.

Fairmont State faced Glenville State and Morris Harvey met Alderson-Broaddus tonight in the battle for semi-final berths.

The Golden Bears were forced to stave off a last-minute Wesleyan rally to come up with their second victory in three clashes with the Bobcats this season.

Tech, behind the great shooting of Kenny Hammond who scored 39 points, took a 10-point lead midway in the first half and held a 46-36 halftime bulge. They were riding along on top of an 81-67 count with three minutes to play when Wesleyan began its drive.

West Liberty, surprised by inspired Bluefield State, battled on even terms with the Big Blues until the last five minutes of play when Joe Blaha canned two free throws to break a 66-66 tie.

Blaha netted 23 points and Bob McNabb came through with 20 to pace the Hilltoppers. Rudy Sowell, Bluefield's center, scored 24 points.

Basilio Is 13-5 Choice Over Saxton In Title Bout

Third Battle In Series Set For Cleveland

Champ Reports Right Hand OK; Fight May Draw 9,000 Tonight

CLEVELAND, Feb. 21 (AP)—Carmen Basilio rules a 13 to 5 favorite to whip Johnny Saxton tomorrow night in defense of his world welterweight title at the Cleveland Arena.

The third meeting of these 147-pounders is expected to draw 9,000 and a gross gate of "over $100,000," according to Larry Atkins, co-promoter with the International Boxing Club.

Each fighter gets 30 per cent of the gross gate and the $60,000 radio - TV fee for the 15-round match to be carried on network (NBC) radio and television.

Says Hand Is OK

Basilio claims the damaged right hand that forced postponement from the original Jan. 18 date has healed. In any event, the champ's best punch is a solid left hook for he is a converted southpaw.

In fight No. 1 of this "series" March 14 at Chicago, Saxton gained a unanimous but widely hooted decision. The New Yorker moved backward until he found an opening for quick counter left hooks against his ever-charging opponent. It was the second time Saxton had won the title.

Basilio, who admitted he was below par at Chicago due to the after-effects of flu, won back his crown Sept. 12 at Syracuse, N. Y. with a deadly punching barrage. In fight No. 2 Saxton tried to slug it out with Basilio in the first two rounds, discarding the style that convinced the officials at Chicago, and wound up a battered and bloody victim of a technical knockout in 1:31 of the ninth round.

Fought Fans' Fight

"I tried to fight the fans' fight," he explained. "They don't want you to run."

Saxton insists he won't make the same mistake again.

Basilio says he is "ready for anything" from Saxton and figures he can beat him whether he runs or makes a stand.

Ultra Smart Takes Bowie Feature Race

BOWIE, Md., Feb. 21 (AP) — Anthony J. Ryan, a New England horseman invading Maryland for the first time, sent out two winners at Bowie Race Track today including Ultra Smart, who staged an upset in the featured Hyattsville Purse, seventh race.

Ridden by Harold Keene, Ultra Smart made a broken-field run to get between the leaders in the stretch and then had enough left to pull away to a length victory over Mrs. Louis L. Voigt, Jr.'s Solar System. Winning time in the 5½ furlong race was 1.05 2/5.

Ultra Smart had finished third in a previous race at the meeting, but was overlooked by most of the students of past performance and paid $20.60. Go Girl, sent out by Ryan to win the second race, paid $20.60, the same as her stablemate.

After winning the fourth race on Flowing, Jockey Nick Shuk, leading rider of the meeting with 14 winners in nine days, complained of severe pains in his left side and was sent to the Prince George's Hospital at Cheverly, Md., for x-rays.

A record win payoff for the meeting was set at $173.40 in the sixth race when Slugger Ray triumphed.

time and one-half pay when SRC crews are called out in emergencies after working their normal eight-hour day.

The request is included in Senate Bill 347, introduced by Sen. See and House Bill 447, introduced by the delegation.

County legislators also were to discuss with the SRC official requests from SRC workers of this county for time spent while returning vehicles from the work site to SRC garages.

Await Amendments

The Allegany County school construction program, introduced by the Delegation as House Bill 484, is being held up pending the receipt of a list of amendments, according to Del. Lester B. Reed, chairman of the delegation.

As introduced, the bill authorizes the County Commissioners to borrow not more than $600,000, and to issue bonds, for building new schools and making specified additions, improvements and repairs to existing schools.

The entire program is estimated to cost about $1,200,000 and tthe Board of Education proposed to finance it by borrowing hall of the money from the state and getting the rest from incentive funds as they are advanced.

Will Be Charged

House Bill 314, sponsored by the county delegates, has been given two amendments of a minor nature, according to Del. Reed.

This bill sets up provisions for

See Is Preparing Merit System Bill

State Senator Charles M. See reported that he is preparing a bill which would place Allegany County employes under a merit system but is not yet ready to introduce it.

County Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson said at Tuesday's meeting that he understood such a bill was being prepared and asked for a copy so that he might become informed of its contents.

Luke and Westernport to participate in the waste treatment plant to be constructed at the Luke Mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Del. Fred B. Driscoll is plugging away in his campaign to require automobile driving education in high schools. It now is permissible.

Driscoll worked on a Legislative Council subcommittee which introduced in January a bill to make the courses mandatory with the costs to be borne by increasing motor vehicle fines 20 per cent. It drew opposition and has shown no signs of moving.

Driscoll is offering another bill that would finance the driving courses by raising the cost of permits for beginners from $1 to $5. The extra $4 would go to the school program.

Mistake Noted

Senator Clifford Friend of Garrett County has reported a mistake was made Wednesday in submitting the names of substitute members to the Garrett County Board of Election Supervisors.

The names were offered by Governor McKeldin to the State Senate for confirmation.

According to Sen. Friend the list furnished by the governor included the name of William D. Casteel, Oakland, a Republican incumbent. The name of Ward Hinebaugh, also a Republican, should have appeared, the senator declared. He added the governor is making the correction.

The other name submitted for a substitute post is Eugene Coddington, Friendsville, a Democrat.

Market Closes Shortened Week With Slight Decline

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP) — The stock market ended a holiday-shortened week today with a decline that cancelled yesterday's rise—the only one of the week.

Volume was only 1,680,000 shares compared with 1,790,000 yesterday.

The normal hesitancy of traders to extend positions prior to a weekend was heightened by the Washington's birthday observance tomorrow when all domestic stock exchanges will be closed.

A few selected issues made some wide moves. Generally, key stocks declined fractions to around 2 points.

The Associated press average of 60 stocks declined 50 cents to $172.10 with the industrials down $1.00, the rails down 50 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Of 1,103 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances by 489 to 358. There were 20 new 1956-'57 lows and three new highs.

Of the 15 most active stocks, losers outnumbered gainers by 10 to 3 and there were 2 unchanged.

Most active—and for the second day running—was U.S. Hoffman Machinery, up ½ at 11⅜ on 107,200 shares. Second was Socony Mobil, off ½ at 49¾ on 29,100 shares. Third was Cooper-Bessemer, up 3½ at 60 on 24,300 shares.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21 — (INS) — Although Mario Lanza and MGM parted company under strained circumstances after "The Student Prince" debacle—I get it straight that it is MGM money backing Mario's "Seven Hills of Rome" movie as well as releasing it. Well, he did awfully well for them financially before his trouble.

It must make Mario happy that his "old gang" at MGM has been assigned to the new film. Roy Rowland will direct, Georgie Stoll is the musical director and Gene Ruggiero will do the editing.

Actual shooting on "Seven Hills" starts around the first of May in Rome. Mario, however, leaves in April to do the prerecording.

The first Helen Morgan story you see will be a movie and not a TV show. Playhouse 90s plan to telecast Helen Morgan's life was called off after Jack Warner and Bill Paley, head of CBS, got together.

I'd like to put up a small wager that Ann Blyth will have the world talking about her performance as Helen. I heard Ann do "Why Was I Born?", and different as she is from the real Helen, you almost feel she looks like the famed singer.

On the set at the time were Jimmy McHugh, playing himself as Helen's pianist, Walter Winchell who plays himself, Paul Newman, Richard Carlson and Cara Williams. All were profuse ir their praise of Ann. She was so good Director Mike Curtiz kissed her after the scene.

When "Lions in the Sky," Danny Arnold's original, was bought a year ago it was intended for Clark Gable. Now Jeff Chandler gets the Gable role, with Lana Turner as his co-star and Bob Evans, Irving Thalberg in "Man of 1000 Faces," in a feature role.

The starting date is April 15. William Alland is the producer and Jack Arnold the director. They both were assigned to "Marazibo" for Lana, which has been called off.

Meanwhile, Lana and Lex Barker are still apart, but by the time this is in print I wouldn't be surprised if Lex hadn't returned home and all their troubles had been ironed out.

Stopped by the "No Time for Sergeants" set at Warners to congratulate Mervyn Leroy on all the Academy nominations for "Bad Seed." I told him I thought that there should be a special award for Patty McCormack because a child shouldn't be put in competition with the grownups. It's bad for Merv, too, because Eileen Heckart, who is wonderful in the same pictures was also nominated for "Best Supporting Actress."

Another thing, I felt there should be a posthumous award for James Dean for "Giant." Only the academy board of governors can change this, however.

Mervyn introduced me to Andy Griffith, and Myron McCormack, who are in his comedy — and the lines are really funny.

Don't say I told you because it's supposed to be on the Q. T.—but there's a red-hot deal cooking for Elvis Presley at MGM involving the kind of money they keep only at Fort Knox. The reason MGM gets this chance at Elvis is because Hal Wallis' option for another Presley picture lapsed Monday night.

Speaking of Elvis, his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Presley, have surprised everyone on the set of "Loving You" by looking so young. Mrs. Presley, who has been ailing, says she has lost 11 pounds and is going to take off 35 more sticking to the food she's preparing herself in the suite her son engaged for his parents at the Hollywood Knickerbocker.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Rosemary Clooney and Jose Ferrer expect their third baby in October. Saw Jose at the Mocambo and he confirmed the story. Rosemary's been keeping a singing engagement in Toronto.

At a ringside table listening to Monique Van Vooren was Arthur Cameron. Earlier he had dined with the statuesque blonde at Chasen's. She sang directly to him.

One condition of Jane Powells new TV series for David Niven and Charles Boyer is that she doesn't have to do any singing roles.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

All Star And Continuous

The five Emmy nominees for the best continuous performance by a female personality—a designation which sounds downright indecent — were respectively: Rosemary, Faye, Arlene, Giselle and Dinah. If you need to know the last names of any of those girls, you must have just arrived from the same planet that spewed forth Cyril Ritchard and you wouldn't be especially interested in these matters anyhow.

It is one of the wonders and the hazards of television that people get so frighteningly well known that their last names are superfluous. It is also the only reason for the program on which the nugget of information contained above was broken to a breathless world. Would Rosemary, Faye, and the rest be the best continuous females or would they be elbowed out by Edie, Gracie, Nanette, Lucy and Zsa Zsa? Zsa Zsa, after all, has been pretty damned continuous all year.

This is the first year that the Emmy nominations have been the subject of a program. The winners, of course, we're used to. In fact, the annual broadcast of the Emmy winners turned into such a good thing that now we have the nominees and next year, who knows, maybe the losers. There should be some sort of a consolation prize for those continuous females and continuous males who didn't get any votes at all.

The main idea of these hoedowns is to round up all the names you can find, and I must admit they rounded up quite a collection on both coasts, the other night. Just to give you some idea, there was a sketch in which five (count 'em) cowboy stars alternated making love to Pretty Perky Peggy King. (That must be her name. That's the only thing anyone ever calls her). This bit was real silly but it was profligate and that's the ticket, fellas. Get the names, never mind what they do.

Last fall, when Tommy Dorsey died, Jackie Gleason turned his program over to a full hour memorial which brought out a splendid collection of instrumentalists and vocalists. It was a good show, as a matter of fact, it ran up a splendid rating. I don't mean to impugn the motives of Mr. Gleason, who is a sentimental slob and really meant this only as a memorial program, but the lesson was not lost on the more practical members of the community.

In fact, a shifty-eyed friend instantly dreamed up a TV show called "Funeral of the Week." "These people are dying all the time," he pointed out. "And we can get all the singers, actors and dog acts for scale. How can they refuse when you tell them it's because poor old So-and-So has passed away?" This nefarious individual was even going to advertise a list of pallbearers in all the newspapers.

"Jack Benny will be on all my lists. How can he say he didn't even know the guy if he's dead?"

"Suppose nobody dies that week," I asked.

"These things can be arranged," said this bird ominously.

I don't know what became of "Funeral of the Week," but until it comes along we have the Emmy nominees, later the Emmy awards, the Oscar nominees, later the Oscar awards, all of them frightfully all-star. For instance, the other night we got a jazz band with Jackie Cooper on the drums, Steve Allen on the piano, Phil Silvers on clarinet, Tennessee Ernie on the trombone and Wally Cox on a harmonica. It wasn't good, but where else can you get that many people together on a five-way split screen? Unless somebody dies, of course.

Incidentally, the five nominees for the best single program of the year were respectively, one of the Victor Borge shows, Kraft's "Night to Remember," Leonard Bernstein's "History of Musical Comedy" on "Omnibus," "Requiem for a Heavyweight" on Playhouse 90, and "Secret Life of Danny Kaye." I don't know how Kaye crept in there, but the others were very good choices.

Industrial Accident Transcript Docketed

The transcript from the State Industrial Accident Commission and the appeal of Clarence Mellott, RFD 3, Valley Road, was filed Wednesday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The Baughman Contracting Company, the employer, and Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company, insurer, filed a cross appeal. Mellott was injured on or about November 16, 1955, when he fell on a rock pile.

Commissioner R. Duncan Clark ruled that Mellott was temporarily totally disabled from November 24, 1955, until April 4, 1956. He also decided that the industrial use of Mellott's body was off 30 per cent, 25 per cent of which resulted from a pre-existing condition.

Mellott was awarded $35 a week from November 27, 1955, until April 4, 1956, for temporary total disability, and $25 a week to a maximum of $625 for permanent partial disability. Edward J. Ryan was attorney for Mellott and C. William Gilchrist was attorney for the employer and insurer.

Gas Company Bill Is Being Prepared

A bill that would require the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company to submit plans of proposed construction projects to the Maryland Public Service Commission is being prepared by State Sen. Charles M. See.

Sen. See said the regulation provision is being modeled after the West Virginia laws governing the Public Service Commission of that state and utility construction work.

The amount of money the utility has invested in its physical plant is one of the main factors in determining the company's rate of return on its investment.

He said he will introduce the bill the first part of next week.

Thruway Bond Issue Will Be Earmarked

Council Agrees On Financing

The Mayor and Council agreed yesterday afternoon to specify in the ordinance that the proceeds of a $500,000 bond issue it will seek are to be used for the Cumberland Thruway and its Industrial Boulevard segment.

Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, will incorporate this stipulation in a proposed charter amendment calling for the sale of $500,000 in "Cumberland Urban Development Bonds of 1957" which passed its first reading Monday.

The original ordinance would die as a result of the change which would spell out the project for which the funds are to be used.

Mr. Finan promised to expedite the preparation of the new ordinance and to confer on the form with Finance Commissioner John J. Long, who insisted the ordinance say how the funds are to be used.

The decision was taken yesterday as city officials met to reach "unanimity of opinion" on the necessity for the bond issue, and on its form.

Debt Service No Burden

In urging prompt action, Mr. Finan pointed out that debt service has not been a burden in Cumberland.

In fact, he said, the impact on the tax rate was less last year than it was in 1950, because of the increase in the assessable base.

Debt service cost the city about $237,000 in 1950 when assessments were about $66,000,000 and $249,000 last year, when the taxable base had risen to $73,000.

If the funds were provided through operating funds, it would boost the tax rate, and officials agreed the rate could go up if the legal limit of $1.25 for operations is raised, but that "rates do not go down."

Decreases in tax rates, however, are automatic when bonds are retired.

Two Alternatives

There are two alternatives, Mr. Finan said. The first, taking the funds out of operating expenses, might call for reducing services. The second is to do it by a bond issue scheduled to fall due in 1970. City officials estimate the bond issue could be serviced for about 2½ cents on debt service if the interest rate is about 3½ per cent.

The possibility of reducing the city's cost for health was discussed as a possible reduction in operating costs. Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, said the city is under no obligation to continue its contribution.

Commissioner Long said the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is another source of funds for the Thruway, and Mayor Roy W. Eves said he has been negotiating for the B&O for the $50,000 which was to be spent for a foot bridge at Williams Street.

Construction Schedule

The schedule of construction, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum reported, calls for the Evitts Creek bridge to be built this year, the bridge at Willowbrook Road next year, followed by the grading from Springdale Street to the Thomas Street area and then the grading project through Central Avenue. He said he has not been informed of a date for the everhead bridge portion.

Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said he saw no way to meet the obligations from operating funds, and Mr. Finan said the Thruway will be a capital expenditure.

Commissioner Long said that if the city can find the $61,000 which the State Roads Commission is withholding, it might be able to finish the present fiscal year on the basis it started.

But Mr. Gibson said that if the city should go into the next fiscal year with a deficit it would have to levy for it. The current tax rate took advantage of all of the present $1.25 limit for operating expenses.

To Be Written In

All of the city officials except Mr. Long — Commissioner Keegan was out of town and could not attend — wanted to leave the titling of the issue as "Urban Improvement," so funds could be used for other purposes if the Thruway later qualifies as an interstate facility, but agreed to the change in the interest of unanimity.

Mr. Long pointed out that all others present were unanimous in feeling the bond issue is necessary now and indicated he would go along on that basis.

He said, "You all say it is necessary. If so, write it so it says how it will be used."

Mr. Finan said he would make the necessary changes and confer with Mr. Long on the context of the new ordinance, which will be submitted on Monday if possible.

Senator See Will Confirm Appointments

Legislators Meet With SRC Official

State Senator Charles M. See said last night he will confirm Allegany County appointments which have been made by Governor McKeldin.

The appointments are in the hands of the Senate's committee on Executive Nominations, which will meet early next week to act on the appointments.

The appointments, Senator See said, "are the Committee's recommendations."

He added that he felt the Republican Committee of Allegany County was elected by the people of Allegany County, and that one of its jobs is to make recommendations to the Governor.

The committee, he said, has met and has made its recommendations to the Governor, and he in turn has sent them down to the Senate.

Hearing Is Planned

"The Governor," Sen. See said, "feels each is qualified to serve and I shall go along and confirm the appointments he sent down to me."

Senate Bill 306, designed to assure that Allegany County will continue to furnish two judges for the Fourth Judicial Circuit, has been referred to the Judicial proceedings committee.

A hearing will be held on the bill, he said. It provides that "there shall be an additional judge who shall be a resident of Allegany County" and that the initial appointment of the additional judge shall not be made until there is a vacancy for any cause . . ."

The retirement of Chief Judge George Henderson in March 1958 would leave Allegany County with only one Circuit Court judge under a constitutional amendment which provided a judge for Garrett County.

Hold Conference

The Allegany County Delegation and Senator See were holding a joint meeting last night to discuss Allegany County legislation.

Sen. See said an official of the Maryland State Roads Commission was slated to attend to discuss several requests made by constituents.

The requests included a bid for

Poultry Disease May Be Checked

Allegany County poultrymen were requested yesterday to bring their sick chickens promptly to the Livestock Sanitary Service laboratory at Oakland so that prompt steps can be taken to stop the spread of disease through their flocks.

Dr. Donald Glotfelty, who operates the laboratory at Oakland, made the observation at the annual winter poultry meeting yesterday at the LaVale Fire Hall, where some 50 poultrymen gathered. "Control of Blue Comb" was the subject of his remarks, but he emphasized the importance of prompt action to stamp out any disease among poultry. The Oakland laboratory was opened last year.

Dr. H. M. DeVolt, poultry professor for the Livestock Sanitary Service, discussed "Respiratory Diseases of Poultry" in the first talk of the all-day meeting.

Wade H. Rice, poultry specialist at the University of Maryland, spoke twice. In his first address he described cage layers as the new trend in poultry, but did not emphatically recommend such an operation for all poultrymen. In his second talk he emphasized the importance of good management in raising baby chicks.

Richard Stegmaier presided at the meeting.

Today some 50 or more Allegany County fruit growers are expected at a second all-day meeting at the LaVale Fire Hall between 9:30 a. m. and 3 p. m. This will be the third of four farmers' meetings arranged this winter by County Agent Joseph M. Steger and his advisory committee.

Man Is Injured In Leap From Runaway Truck

Failure Of Brakes Blamed In Crash

A Kansas City, Mo., truck driver was hospitalized yesterday morning after he leaped from the cab of a tractor-trailer which went out of control and plunged into an embankment on the east slope of Sideling Mountain.

War Memorial Hospital in Berkeley Springs, W. Va., reported last night the condition of Howard A. Sherman, 42, of Kansas City, was "fairly good."

He was reported to have suffered brush burns and lacerations, and when admitted to the hospital was in mild shock.

Loaded With Egg Yolks

The tractor-trailer, which police said was loaded with some 1,100 cans of frozen egg yolks, turned over on its side and blocked one lane of U.S. 40 after striking an embankment.

There are are three lanes of traffic where the accident occurred.

Trooper Elmer Baum, who investigated, said the driver, who was traveling east toward Hagerstown, had passed the brow of the mountain and after descending the east slope for a distance of about 800 yards, learned the brakes of the rig had failed.

Leaps From Cab

He leaped from the cab of the moving vehicle, which continued on down the slope for about 400 yards, careened to the left of the highway, struck the embankment and turned over on its side.

Trooper Baum said the tractor-trailer driver is an employe of the Monarch Egg Company of Kansas City and was en route to Landover, Md., to deliver the load of egg yolks. The merchandise did not spill.

Trooper Baum, who said the accident occurred about 8:30 a. m., reported the driver was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist.

This month also is the 47th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts and the 27th anniversary of the founding of the Cub Scouts.

The Cub Scouts have grown from a national organization of 5,000 in 1950 to 1,646,480 as of the end of 1956.

Glenn Kemmet is chairman of the pack committee for Cub Pack 19. The pack will receive an honor unit award in the National God and Country program. Friday's program will end with entertainment by William J. Hay, local magician.

Normal B&O Rail Traffic Is Restored

Normal traffic along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad just west of Oakland, disrupted yesterday morning by a derailment of 22 cars of an eastbound freight train, was expected to be restored last night.

Westbound traffic was resumed about 3 p. m. yesterday and wreck crews from Keyser and Grafton were on the scene last night clearing the wreckage.

No one was reported injured in the derailment, which occurred about 9:30 a. m. yesterday two and a half miles west of Oakland.

Traffic on the east and westbound tracks was curtailed for several hours until the No. 1 track, westbound, was cleared.

The derailed cars consisted of 15 loaded coal hoppers and seven boxcars. Cause of the wreck had not been determined last night, according to a railroad spokesman.

Engineer on High Car 96 was M. E. Helm, of Oldtown Road while the conductor was C. F. Carnell, of 430 Williams Street.

The eastbound freight was headed from Grafton to Cumberland at the time of the derailment.

The committee's approval has the effect of clearing the project for an appropriation.

Teachers Seek County Support On Retirement

Delegation Meets With Commissioners

A delegation from the Allegany County Teachers' Association met yesterday with the Board of County Commissioners to solicit the commissioners' support for legislation to make up deficiencies in their teacher annuity contributions to the Teachers' Retirement System.

When the system was originated in 1927 it was designed so that upon retirement a teacher would receive one-half of his average annual salary over the five years when his salary was at its highest level.

Teachers' salaries remained at a low level during the depression and World War II years. Since 1947, when teachers received sizeable increases to offset the effect of inflation, their retirement contributions were not recalculated by the actuary so that their retirement pay would still amount to half of their average annual salary over the five peak years.

Would Provide $80,000

The Maryland Teachers' Association had a bill introduced in the General Assembly which would have provided payments totaling $80,000 to make up the retirement discrepancies for all teachers of the state. This measure has been bottled up in committee.

The County Teachers' Association would like the county commissioners to support this legislation and help to get it passed or support a local bill which would accomplish the same purpose for Allegany County. Such a local bill would cost the county about $4,000 the first year.

A Senate Resolution introduced last Friday by Senators Louis L. Goldstein and John Grason Turnbull in Annapolis is aimed at studying the retirement problem.

Analysis Provided

Senate Joint Resolution 17 calls for a thoroughgoing analysis of the administration, fiscal, management, operation and legal structure of the retirement and pension laws applicable to the state employes, teachers and State Police to be undertaken by the special committee on taxation and fiscal matters of the Legislative Council. Committee recommendations are to be presented at the 1958 session of the General Assembly.

Those who attended yesterday's meeting included Edward A. Meconi, association president; Miss Mary E. Murray, Miss Lillian C. Myers, Miss Gertrude A. C. Williams, Joseph H. Pellerzi, L. Hays Chambers and Homer S. Higgins, all members of the association's legislative committee.

Safety Director Is Center Of Furor In House

Public Records Bill Hits Snag

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 21 (AP)—Legislative talk about Paul E. Burke, Maryland Traffic Safety Commission director, reached the furor stage today in the House of Delegates.

Are you "calling me a liar?" Del. Lee (D-Montgomery) asked Del. Acker (D-Balto 3d) in a heated exchange on the House floor.

Acker started it by rising to say that "fallacious and salacious" attacks were being made on Burke about a mysterious testimonial dinner for him. In the same breath he mentioned a bill introduced yesterday by Dels. Lee and McNeal (D-Balto 3d) which would replace the present safety commission with another of different membership composition.

"I would like to point out there is no relation of any kind between our bill and all this folderol about whether a jail warden is going to a dinner which may or may not be held for Burke," Lee said.

"I certainly would like to believe that," replied Acker.

Acker merely repeated his desire "to believe" Lee.

Called "One-Man" Show

The testimonial dinner came into the limelight coincident with announced legislative inquiry of Burke's commission. One legislator called it a "one-man show" and financial leaders are planning to cut drastically his requested budget.

A mysterious letter announcing cancellation of a testimonial dinner for Burke appeared last weekend. No one could be found who would admit writing it. It was sent to 183 members of a "citizens' committee to honor Paul E. Burke."

Many of those on the list said they never heard of the dinner.

A letter read by Acker on the House floor disclosed that the dinner was planned almost two years ago. The letter from Vernon L. Pepersack, warden of the state penitentiary, accepting membership on the committee was dated March 3, 1955.

Records Bill Hits Snag

In the Senate a bill to open "public records and other matters in the office of" any municipal, county or state office hit a snag.

Sponsored by Senate President Goldstein (D-Calvert), the measure was amended by the Judiciary Committee to exempt certain Health Department and police records unless a special court order is obtained.

The rule allowing the measure to lay over until tomorrow while the amendment is studied was invoked. However, previous discussion indicated the bill may be in for rough sledding.

Sen. Redden (D-Caroline) said he did not doubt the possible merit of the bill but he wondered if there had been "any abuses" of or unnecessary restrictions on the accessibility of public records.

Goldstein said he had consulted various state agency officials before introducing the measure and had found no objections. Committee Chairman Malkus (D-Dorchester) said he also had solicited comment from such officials and the only suggestions—from the Health Department and Baltimore police—had been incorporated into the amendments.

The senators also tentatively approved, over strenuous objections from Sen. North (D-Talbot), a House bill which would raise the speed limit from 55 to 60 m.p.h. on non-access highways.

Another motor vehicle bill, allowing motorists to pass on the right on one-way streets and dual highways, was enacted and sent to the governor.

Seek Pay Increase

University of Maryland officials appeared at the State House earlier in the day with colored charts and diagrams to support their arguments for faculty pay increases.

President Wilson H. Elkins said the university scale lags behind that of comparable state institutions and that it is having difficulty retaining teachers, especially those with the rank of associate professor and professor.

Proposed increases in pay make up 41 per cent of the $2,533,450 increase in the university budget requested for next year.

He said instructors are presently averaging $4,385 and the university is recommending their scale range between $4,500 and $5,500.

Pay of assistant professors, now averaging $5,285, would range from $5,500 to $6,750.

Associate professors now receiving an average of $6,085 would get between $7,000 and $8,500 depending on rating. Pay of professors, at present averaging $6,885, would be between $9,000 and $10,750.

Dr. Elkins called the increases the "most important" need of the university at present.

He said the university is experiencing a faculty turnover of about 20 per cent a year, and said the undergraduate student body at College Park is expected to nearly double within the next 10 years.

Enrollment has increased from 6,000 in 1951 to 8,127 this year, Dr. Elkins said. It is expected to hit 15,141 by 1966.

"We are just beginning to feel the teacher shortage, as the first 'war babies' come out of high school," he said.

Friend's Gas Bill Meets Opposition

Senator Charges C&A Monopoly

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 21 (AP)—Lawyers for gas companies and pipelines attacked today both in principle and validity a bill by Sen. Friend (R-Garrett).

He wants pipelines regulated by the Public Service Commission, plus a requirement that they must carry natural gas other than their own.

"You are asking this committee to approve a bill that is tantamount to taking over private property," Sen. Cole (D-Balto 4th) said to Friend after a hearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Friend at first gave only a brief explanation of his reasons for requiring natural pipelines to carry gas of producers which they have not bought.

He said it seemed to him that the "transportation of such a valuable product is public business" and should be regulated by the state.

Pressed for more background, Friend later said:

"Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. owns all the pipelines in Western Maryland. It now is conducting a monopolistic squeeze in the Accident field.

Charges Monopoly

"In order to force people to sign leases of their land for drilling they have used every trick under the sun. Some people own gas land, they won't lease to Cumberland and Allegheny, and the gas stays there. There is no other way to get it out.

"I have 300 acres leased to Cumberland and Allegheny. They have said to me 'Unless you give up that lease and sign another we won't take your gas, we'll drill around you.'"

John Avirett, counsel for Cumberland and Allegheny, told the committee the company is buying all the gas that now is being produced in Western Maryland.

He and Harrison Winter, attorney for Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Corp., both expressed doubt of the legal validity of Friend's proposal.

Encroachment?

They said interstate operation of natural gas pipelines is subject to regulation by the Federal Power Commission. Avirett said he had "serious doubts the Maryland Legislature can encroach on a field preempted by the federal government."

He said that forcing a utility to carry gas besides its own might ultimately force higher rates on domestic consumers.

"Our customers might be paying for gas of other companies," he said.

Richard Ober also opposed the bill in behalf of the Baltimore Gas & Electric Co.

"This bill is intended primarily to start something in the way of gas control in Maryland, one segment at a time," he claimed.

Avirett disagreed with Friend that Cumberland & Allegheny has a monopoly to buy and transport natural gas in Western Maryland. He said its franchise from the Public Service Commission applies only to its retail sales and anyone else is free to come in to buy it in the field.

Witness Charged WM Discouraged Use Of Train

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 21 (AP)—The Public Service Commission was told today that the Western Maryland Railway has "deliberately done everything it could" to discourage use of its Elkins-Cumberland, Md., passenger service.

That statement came from owner John Carr of radio station WDNE in Elkins shortly before the PSC concluded hearing a railway request to discontinue the last Elkins-Cumberland passenger run.

Railway witnesses testified earlier that the company lost about $1,000 a week last year operating one train each way daily except Sunday over the 112-mile route.

The company has explained that the loss as of Jan. 1 of a contract for mail will add another $33,000 to annual out-of-pocket losses from operation of the trains, boosting the annual loss to a new figure of about $86,000 annually.

Gas Company Files Answer In Rate Appeal

Says Increase Could Be Higher

The Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company yesterday filed an answer in Allegany County Circuit Court disputing the claims made by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland and the Allegany County Commissioners in appealing the Public Service Commission order permitting the utility to boost its gas rates.

This answer stated that this was only the third rate increase obtained by the C&A Gas Company in 28 years. Acknowledging that all three of these increases have occurred in the past five years, the utility said it may be forced to make annual requests for increased rates in the future if the present inflationary trends continue.

Must Buy Gas

Defense of the agreement to purchase part of its gas from the Atlantic Seaboard Company, an affiliate in the so-called "Columbia Group," also was contained in the answer. The C&A firm said that it was unable to meet the requests of its customers without purchasing peak gas from Atlantic. Total charges by Atlantic were termed reasonable for peak gas.

The answer also noted that in 1951 the gas utility purchased the Snee and Eberly gas producing property near Terra Alta, W. Va., for $4,000,000. The 1951 estimate of the anticipated yield from this source was 11 billion cubic feet greater than it would have been had the estimate been made December 31, 1955.

C&A finally argued that it had produced sufficient evidence before the Public Service Commission to justify a rate of return of not less than six-and-one-half per cent interest instead of the five-and-three-quarters per cent that was granted last November 9.

Would Get More Revenue

Under the PSC order, the C&A Gas Company will receive an additional annual revenue of between $98,327 and $120,854 above its former revenue.

The answer was signed by three attorneys for the utility, John W. Avirett II of Baltimore, Harry A. Kramer of Pittsburgh and James Alfred Avirett of this city.

The city and council appeal of this rate order was filed in Circuit Court January 7. The appeal named the PSC as respondent. January 22 Chief Judge George Henderson signed an order allowing the C&A Gas Company to join the case as intervening respondent. The PSC filed an answer in the appeal February 6 and the gas company took its action yesterday.
